BIG GUNS DUEL IN PHILIPPINES

Hitler Digs In, Admits Plight

By the Associated Press

Hitler's own press chief prepared the German nation for a jolt today, solemnly acknowledging Nazi military operations "have reached an extremely serious and indeed critical phase" as the Russians swept on to new triumphs.

The British radio quoted a Moscow announcement that 12,000 Germans had been killed in the Volkhov and Tikhvin sector on the Leningrad front since early December.

Soviet front-line dispatches declared Red troops advancing over the wintry battlefields at a pace of more than four miles a day had recaptured Mosalsk, 47 miles west of Kaluga, and further tightened the vise on 100,000 Germans still holding at Mozhaisk.

Russian spearheads were reported within 25 miles of the Vyazma-Bryansk line, where Hitler is expected to rally his fleeing armies for an attempted stand deep in the rear of the Mozhaisk salient 87 miles west of Moscow.

KILL 5000 MORE NAZIS

A British radio broadcast said the Russians also were plunging forward in the Orel sector, 200 miles southwest of Moscow, "and killed here 5000 German soldiers in the last five days."

The Swiss radio, quoting Moscow dispatches, said communications on the 600-mile rail line between Moscow and Rostov-on-Don had been re-established.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters acknowledged that "defense fighting continued with undiminished violence" on the central (Moscow) front and in the northern (Leningrad) sector.

ENCIRCLE GERMAN BASE

On the Leningrad front Russian columns driving down the Volkhov River were reported advancing upon the big German base at Novgorod, 120 miles southwest of Leningrad, in an encirclement move which might cut off the Nazi siege armies before Leningrad itself.

In the Crimea, the Germans faced a similar encirclement by Russian troops now pouring into the Black sea peninsula in great numbers.

The extent of Soviet landing oper-

RAF RAINS BOMBS ON JAP BASES

Smashing, flame-kindling air attacks on far-flung Jap military targets were announced by the British Far East command today in a communique which also conceded new British withdrawals on the western Malayan front.

RAF planes flew far and wide this morning in a startling series of sudden raids on Japanese objectives at Sungei Patani, the Ipoh airdrome and Singora.

Tons of explosives and fire bombs were hurled on these targets, and at Singora large quantities of Jap military supplies were damaged.

The raids were launched while British imperial and Japanese troops were locked in a severe battle in the jungles of western Malaya.

At Sungei Patani large fires were started by the RAF raiders. The flames were followed by a series of explosions.

At Singora bombs were dropped on the shipping and railroad junction

SET ON FIRE

At the Ipoh airdrome, it was reported, three Jap planes apparently were set on fire, and flames visible for 50 miles arose from a long building that was hit.

A new war communique admitted the withdrawals as reports from the fighting front said the fiercest land battle of the entire Far Eastern conflict was raging 50 miles north of strategic Kuala Lumpur.

Advancing Jap units were reported still pounding the British forces, who in turn were taking a terrific toll in killed and wounded Nipponese.

The fighting on the western Malayan front reached a new peak of violence after the Japanese, sup-

The War Department today indicated the first phase of Japan's "all-out" drive to complete conquest of the Philippines has begun with artillery duels northwest of Manila.

Large Japanese reinforcements also were mentioned, supporting the belief the Japs are ready to launch a vast ground offensive against Gen. Douglas MacArthur's defense troops in the northern area of Batan.

The Japs apparently have begun a new attempt to land on the coast of Mindanao Island.

HALTED BY U. S. BOMBERS

Their last effort to land there failed when American bombing planes dispersed their ships, sinking several of them.

News from Reuters in London disclosed the Tokyo radio has announced the big Philippine battle early today. Reuters said the Japanese broadcast claimed Gen. MacArthur's first line had been crushed.

In its communique last night the War Department disclosed Japanese troops, heavily reinforced and outnumbering the combined American-Filipino troops, were moving continually forward. These operations, the War Department stated, were "apparently in preparation for a renewed attack in force."

Importance of Corregidor and Manila bay in the Japanese battle scheme was emphasized by military men. They asserted the fall of Manila bay would cut MacArthur's supply lines, enable Japanese ships to ply their way to lower Batan, pinch the defending troops from north and south and complete the conquest of the Philippines.

The Navy stated Japanese sky raiders have sent the S. S. Ruth Alexander, of the American President lines, to the bottom off the Netherlands East Indies. One man wa slost and four injured in the sinkig.

Naval operations, meanwhile, continued against Japan, the Navy asserted, specifying activities to smash enemy submarine power.

A report that an Axis submarine was operating in New England waters proved groundless. The Navy said the area "has been thoroughly searched without tangible results."

U.S. REPORTER-SURVIVOR DESCRIBES TORPEDOING

Larry Allen, Associated Press correspondent, brings this dramatic eyewitness account of the destruction of the British cruiser Galatea and his own narrow escape from death.

By LARRY ALLEN

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Jan. 10 (AP)—The British light cruiser Galatea, struck by three torpedoes from an Axis submarine, flopped over like a stabbed turtle and went down within three minutes off the Egyptian Mediterranean coast in the inky darkness just after midnight the morning of Dec. 16.

The torpedoes, launched from close range, smashed in swift succession against the Galatea's after port side, amidships and forward, tearing into her interior with loud blasts and spurting flame.

On the dying cruiser's quarterdeck I clung tenaciously to the starboard rail until the list of the ship flung me into the cold, choppy sea.

Then I battled through thick, oily scum for 45 minutes before being rescued.

We had been dive-bombed more than seven hours on Dec. 14 while patrolling with a squadron of cruisers and destroyers off the Libyan coast, but the Galatea successfully beat off those attacks and headed eastward.

At midnight on Dec. 15 the cruiser's announcer system warned:

"First-degree readiness heavy armament."

A marine sentry aroused me. Adjusting lifebelts, we stepped out into the inky blackness of the quarterdeck and raced toward the bridge as the first torpedo smashed into the after portside with a burst of flame, heavily rocking the Galatea.

Torpedoes seemed to chase us

DUFF COOPER CALLED HOME FROM SINGAPORE UNDER FIRE

OFFICIAL NEWS

London

Jan. 10 (INS)

Alfred Duff Cooper, resident British minister at Singapore, was requested by the government today to wind up his affairs at the Far Eastern base and return to Britain.

Duff Cooper, formerly minister of information, was appointed to Singapore a few weeks ago, charged with co-ordinating British defenses throughout the Orient.

Prime Minister Churchill's offices said:

"Arrangements made at Washington in connection with appointment of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell as supreme commander-in-chief in the southwest Pacific necessarily bring to an end the mission of the chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (Duff Cooper's cabinet title) as resident minister with cabinet rank at Singapore.

"His majesty's government has asked the chancellor to wind up his mission and return home."

No tears were shed in London over Duff Cooper's recall. He was the object of considerable criticism, particularly from Australia.

The Canberra Times said bluntly:

"Duff Cooper should be sent home and replaced by someone with a greater capacity for realism than making after-dinner speeches."

The Sydney Daily Mirror commented:

"We want planes, not words, deeds and not assurances. Singapore must be held."

Driving through the suburbs of the strategic South China port of Canton, advancing Chinese forces engaged in a furious battle with defending Japanese troops today.

Chinese military spokesmen indicated the Japs are making desperate effort to halt the Chinese tide in Canton's northern and northeastern suburbs.

Meanwhile, Chinese troops were pushing on to additional successes in a general advance on all fronts, the communique said.

Chinese bombers battered Jap troops caught in a pocket along the Milo river, north of Changsha.

The remnants of the army of 100,000 that was beaten off in the attack on Changsha, key city of Hunan Province, still were surrounded and slowly being liquidated, a spokesman said.

Mother Sees Girl Die In Fire, but Saves 9

In an inferno which destroyed their home today, a 5-year-old Wilmington girl was burned to death; her mother was believed to be dying from burns suffered in heroic efforts to save her family, and nine children sustained burns and exposure.

FIRST SKI QUEEN—Smiling a smile of victory and holding her skis in a "V" position is lovely Antoinette Smith of Wellesley, chosen the season's first ski queen at the Commonwealth Country Club, Chestnut Hill. She was awarded a silver loving cup.

The mother, Mrs. Benita Mary Devoe, 42, of Aldrich rd., tried vainly to save her little daughter, Elaine, 5, from the roaring fire and was so badly burned she is not expected to live many hours.

She is in Tewksbury State Hospital with her nine children.

OTHERS FLEE FIRE

The injured children are:

MARIE, 19, burns on fingers and face, suffering from exposure and frostbite.

MILDRED, 18, cuts on feet, exposure.

CHARLES, 16, exposure.

VERNON and twin sister, Verna, 14, exposure.

BBOBBY, 10, exposure.

HENRY, 3, burns on face, hands, cut feet and exposure.

VERONICA, 9, exposure.

GEORGE, 12, exposure.

The tragic story was told at the hospital by Marie, suffering from badly frostbitten feet, after she and her brothers and sisters had fled in their nightclothes.

GIRL'S TRAGIC STORY

"Elaine and Henry were sleeping downstairs in the same room with mother, and the rest of us were upstairs," she said.

"Ma woke up and saw the woodpile back of the stove burning. She rushed over to Henry and carried him to a window, but shee ouldn't get it open all the way and she was just able to squeeze him through.

"Then she went to get Elaine, but her clothes were on fire already and aM couldn't get hold o' her.

"Ma saved the rest of us before she tried to get Henry and Elaine. She screamed to us 'Get out, the house is on fire; run for your lives.'

TRIES TO SAVE MOTHER

"Charley, who ran outside after Ma yelled, tried to open her bedroom window but he couldn't budge it. He saw ma there, her clothes in flames, still trying to get Elaine out."

Convulsed with grief at the terrible tragedy which struck her home, Marie paused. Regaining her composure with obvious effort, she continued:

"Ma finally smashed the glass with her bare hands and Charley pulled her through. Somebody helped Charley and he rolled her in the snow to put out the fire, but . . . I'm afraid it was too late."

The heroic mother woh gave first though to the safety of her children had tossed Veronica and Ver-

TRIPLETS DUE FOR SKI EXPERT HELD HERE

Sympathetic government officials moved today to clear up the status of Sigfried Buchmayr, Austrian ski expert now detained as an enemy alien at the East Boston immigration station, before the scheduled arrival of the stork with a bundle of triplets for his wife.

Mrs. Buchmayr, a former British subject and sister of Lord Banbury of Berkshire, England, disclosed medical authorities have informed her she will become the mother of triplets in about two weeks.

Sigfried Buchmayr

Her husband, internationally famed as a ski instructor, has made Franconia, N. H., his headquarters in recent years. He has been held at East Boston since the outbreak of war.

Following appearance by him and another detained man, Rudolph Uriau, canary fancier of Rochester, N. H., before the Enemy Alien Board at Concord, N. H., U. S. Atty. Alexander Murchie has requested an early decision from Atty.-Gen. Francis H. Biddle on the two cases.

Mrs. Buchmayr said she met her husband eight years ago during a vacation in Austria, where he was a champion skier.

"We met again in Franconia and were married last March," she said. "Sig never was a German, never had a German passport. He is an Austrian and now has his first citizenship papers. He applied for final papers a year ago."

Despite her membership in the family of a British noble, Mrs. Buchmayr likewise seeks American citizenship and has applied for her papers.

TRAIN KILLS DRIVER BLINDED BY STORM AT EVERETT CROSSING

One man was killed and another seriously injured as snow swept all of eastern Massachusetts today.

In Everett a Lynn-to-Boston train collided with an automobile at a Second st. crossing in the blinding snow, smashed the machine to bits and tore apart the body of its driver.

The victim, Joseph Leo Walsh, of Baldwin ave., Everett, 46-year-old Navy Yard worker, was decapitated. His leg was torn off and his body thrown 30 feet from the wreckage.

So terrific was the impact Walsh's auto was forced 300 feet along the track and hurled a crumpled mass against the gate tenders' shack, narrowly xmissing the gate tender, Leon Bromley, 62, of Staniford st., West End.

In South Easton Michael Brophy, 52-year-old father of five, of Pine st., Eastondale, was found along the Boston-Taunton highway, victim of a hit and run driver of the storm.

The injured man, almost covered with snow, was found by a passing motorist who called Dr. Michael Del Colliano. At Brockton hospital Brophy was said to have suffered severe head injuries including a possible skull fracture.

BOSTON DIGS OUT

Six hundred men armed with snowshovels and 100 ploughs joined in the city's battle against the snow.

Public Works Commissioner Hyland said his force had the situation well in hand.

The weather man predicted the mercury will do another nose dive, with clearing conditions tonight.

In the tragedy at Everett Gatetender Bromley said Walsh skidded through the crossing gates directly into the path of the oncoming train.

Bromley rushed from his shack, shouting a warning for the driver to jump, but either Walsh didn't hear him, or was unable to get out of his car in time.

BLINDED BY STORM

The body of the victim was so badly mangled he was at first identified as his brother, Edward J. Walsh, also of Baldwin ave., whose car he was using and whose license and registration was found in the wreckage.

Several eyewitnesses said Walsh was apparently blinded by the snow and did not see the crossing until too late.

The engineer, William Webber, 55, of Raleigh, said he saw the car skidding through the gates and slammed on his brakes, but that the train's momentum carried it hurtling forward.

FARM BLOC NOW ASKS 10 P.C. HIGHER PRICES; CONTROL ACT RUSHED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—A 10 per cent increase in farm parity price-fixing levels was demanded today by farm state lawmakers who already had won Senate exemption of farm products from the same price control as other goods in war emergency measures.

Senators O'Mahoney (D.) of Wyoming and McCarran (D.) of Nevada sought consideration for this new amendment as the Senate convened in an unusual session in an effort to complete passage of the price control bill today. Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky predicted speedy approval of the measure as a whole.

The parity increase amendment was expected to get the backing of farm bloc senators who yesterday overrode President Roosevelt's written objections and wrote into the bill a provision giving the Secretary of Agriculture veto power over farm price fixing.

Turning down a proposed compromise by Barkley, the farm bloc obtained a 48 to 37 vote for an amendment by Senator Bankhead (D.) of Alabama, providing that the Secretary of Agriculture must give "prior approval" before a price administrator, to be established by the bill, could fix a ceiling on basic agriculture commodities.

A drive to salvage junk and scrap metal under OPM sponsorship today was under way in factories and homes throughout Massachusetts under plea of Paul C. Cabot of the conservation department of OPM.

There is a great shortage of copper also, according to Cabot, together with paper board.

Reports from London yesterday indicated the British anticipate an all-out Axis attack on Malta in the near future.

Tax Urged On Smaller Incomes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Treasury was reported today to have proposed substantially smaller individual income tax exemptions as one of many methods of bringing in $3,000,000,000 additional revenue proposed by President Roosevelt in the new budget.

Lowering of the present $1500 exemption for married persons to $1000, and reduction of the present $750 exemption for a single person to $500 was said to have been discussed in a preliminary conference of Democratic and Republican legislators with Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and his advisors yesterday.

Some of the members of the Senate finance committee said, however, that these suggested changes would provide only relatively small portions of the $7,000,000,000 the President has requested in general taxes. About $2,000,000,000 in additional social security taxes is expected to be asked in separate legislation later.

RAZED EL TO YIELD STEEL FOR 1000 U. S. TANKS, 6 WARSHIPS

To the relief of Boston motorists who too often have dented bumpers and scraped fenders while zigzagging under the Atlantic ave. "El" structure, work crews will soon be tearing down the two-mile traffic hazard, following a State Supreme Court decision.

Unless stockholders and directors of the Boston Elevated Co. take an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court, removal of the structure will start in 30 days.

The rambling, unused tracks and girders contain enough copper and steel, it is estimated, to build one heavy cruiser and five light destroyers, or 1000 tanks, 10,000 shells or 40,000 .37 mm. anti-aircraft guns.

11,000 TONS OF STEEL

Demolition of the unused structure, according to estimates of OPM officials in Washington, will yield 11,000 tons of steel and 38 tons of copper for national defense. The steel has a market value of $135,000. Cost of the removal of the structure and repair of the roadway, cables and airlines will amount to $320,000, however, leaving a deficit of $185,000.

In a 62-page decision, written by Chief Justice Fred T. Field, the full bench ruled that the "El" had forfeited its rights and franchise with regard to the Atlantic ave. extension because of its abandonment of service on the branch line.

TRUSTEES TO AGREE

Officials of the "El" declared the trustees, who originally authorized discontinuance of service along the line, would abide by the court's decision. The trustees, a spokesman said, had always been in favor of removing the structure, but were powerless to order the action taken at the "El's" expense pending the court decision.

The matter of an appeal, however, it was pointed out, is in the hands of the stockholders and directors.

The decision meaning that the structure might come down, barring an appeal, represented a hard-fought victory for the city, state and government officials who, together with property owners along the right of way, have long sought demolition of the unsightly, traffic-blocking, unused structure.

Hitler at Napoleon's Tomb Plans His Own

By PIERRE J. HUSS
Copyright, 1942

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—On a summer day in July, 1940, when the evening sun spread its soft golden haze over the Champs Elysees and made you glad to stand amidst all this beauty of Paris, a long gray Mercedes limousine of six wheels turned slowly into the side entrance of the walled courtyard back of the Dome des Invalides, where Napoleon I sleeps.

Slowly the Mercedes car with its six uniformed men moved forward toward the German officer standing at rigid attention in the main yard back of the Dome. There was no other living soul in sight.

The first car was followed by three others somewhat similar in appearance.

A six-foot adjutant in the first car had sprung to the ground with the agility of a tiger and yanked open the door opposite the driver.

Adolf Hitler, wearing a white coat of dust-proof gabardine, pushed his right leg slowly to the ground.

Hitler, the mighty Fuehrer of the Third Reich and master of armies sweeping over Europe, had come to visit Napoleon.

It was much more than the visit of a tourist with guidebook in hand. To Hitler it was a pilgrimage, a dream come true, and a miraculous milestone in a passion which guided at least part of his life.

He came here to look at the Napoleon he had followed over the battlefields of Europe step by step through thousands of authentic pages available on the bookstands and even in dusty archives he had ransacked from time to time; he came here to look at the hallowed spot where rests the man whose political ideas and schemes in Europe gave Hitler a basic pattern to follow.

And here, underneath the great dome with its golden cupola, lay the man by whose military mistakes Hitler swore to profit.

DIDN'T SALUTE

The German officer who greeted Hitler received a perfunctory salute, and the mechanical Hitler handshake used for those he doesn't see. The officer led the way up the well-worn concrete steps to a nail-studded wooden door and pushed it open. Hitler stepped inside, walked quickly through the vaulted antechamber into the great rotunda under the dome, as if he knew his way in the dark.

NAPOLEON IN HOLE

A dozen of his men and guards were scarcely able to follow him through the narrow doors at that pace, and before they had even reached the antechamber, Hitler stood at the marble balustrade and looked down into the pit at the sarcophagus inside of which Napoleon I sleeps.

He didn't salute; his cap with the golden Swastika eagle stayed on his head; he just stood there with hands on the balustrade and mouth slightly open.

I guess it was a full minute before the Fuehrer broke that strange silence which laid a cold hand on your heart there under the Dome des Invalides that dying day in July.

Four or five of us from Berlin had been taken there a little bit earlier on our pledged word of silence on what we would see, a method used many times by the Nazis as the surest way of forestalling a leak to the outside world about an incident or event they are not anxious to have published at the time.

"Napoleon, mein lieber, they have made a bad mistake," the guttural voice of the Fuehrer said suddenly out of the void.

It startled me, standing there across from a live warlord and above a dead emperor. What was he talking about? He had sounded a bit cynical and slightly amused, or was I mistaken. He was turning to his press chief Otto Dietrich, to tap him on the arm. But he was talking to all before him.

"Ja, it is a big mistake they have made," Hitler repeated and pointed into the pit.

"They have him down into a hole. People must look down at a coffin for below them. Their eyes cannot come close and really grasp what they are looking for.

DEATH NOT END

"They should look up at Napoleon, feeling small by the very size of the monument or sarcophagus above their heads. You do not impress people if you walk in a street and they are on top of a building. They must look at something above them; you must be the stage and the center of attraction above the level of all eyes. Then the mind reaches out and fastens itself upon the object of the person.

"It is all a matter of common psychology; the effect of Napoleon and his hold on the nation would have been much greater if people could come and actually touch the stone he sleeps in by reaching their arm up and perhaps by standing on tiptoe.

"This way, I must assume that the thousands who have come here before me look into their guide book and go away without remembering more about it than about the next place. Their minds failed to grasp the greatness of Napoleon and Napoleon down there in that pit failed to touch their hearts and effect his mission after death of keeping alive the spirit and tradition of a great epoch."

Hitler began to walk slowly around the balustrade, pausing once more at the glass door leading into the church with its tattered flags of Napoleon's war in Europe, to look almost carelessly into the pit from the opposite side of where he had stood before. I could not help but feel that a sort of disdain had replaced the man's former intentness.

"I shall never make such a mistake," Hitler said suddenly. "I know how to keep my hold on people after I have passed on. I shall be the Fuehrer they look up at, and go home to talk of and remember. My life shall not end in the mere form of death. It will, on the contrary, begin then."

Monday Huss tells further of Hitler's dream of himself in immortality.

Pierre Huss, for eight years correspondent in Berlin for International News Service, today begins the story of Hitler's dream of immortality.

TOWN CAUTION URGED IN DEFENSE SPENDING

State treasury and budget officials today were mapping instructions for proper town and city spending—ever watchful to see that local spendthrifts do not run wild in appreciating money for defense.

While encouraging all necessary defense spending, State authorities are closely supervising all appropriations and budgets.

Perhaps the best procedure to follow, according to the Treasury watchdogs, is to allocate funds that can be paid for out of current revenue that will not exceed $1 in the present tax rate with the remainder to be borrowed on five-year loans.

Town selectmen also have been urged to await final disposition by Congress of the pending $100,000,000 appropriation for civilian defense, since undoubtedly some of this big fund will be allocated for town needs.

At the same time, it was disclosed that the biggest problem in local defenses is that of properly manning air raid signal centers. There are but few volunteers for listening post on the 12 to 8 a. m. shift and it is feared that most towns will be forced to appropriate money to get paid workers.

One case, that of Braintree, was cited by state treasury officials as an example of attempting to rush through big appropriations because of the war emergency. There, the selectmen and civilian defense committee agreed to spend $75,000, but town meeting members quickly cut the figure to $4800.

Signs Glare In Blackout Practice Drill

Because many electric signs still do not have shut-off devices which comply with the new blackout orders, public safety officials prepared today to crack down on owners of illuminated displays who refuse to heed Gov. Saltonstall's regulations.

Some large signs were dark during the night, others remained on, with the permission of authorities. Many more, however, glared in spite of the new rules and owners were warned that failure to observe the blackout orders might result in fines up to $500.

STORES DARKENED

Store owners who possess signs equipped with automatic turn-off switches were informed such devices do not meet with the safety committee's approval. Only those signs which can be turned off by hand at the sounding of an air raid alarm will be permitted to remain illuminated after dark.

In the Boston downtown area numerous stores were darkened during the first test of the nightly blackout scheme, while defense workers staged a practice session of reporting air raid "damage."

More than 300 volunteer wardens and civilian defense workers took part in a two hour drill under Chief Air Raid Warden John Hartnett at the report center at City Hall.

TEST A SUCCESS

Volunteer clerks and telephone operators, working in relays, handled hundreds of calls, at the rate of three per minute, from wardens posted throughout the district, reporting imaginary civilian casualties and property damage.

The test, according to John J. Walsh, executive director of the Boston public safety committee, was a complete success.

REVOLT TALK ALARMS NAZI CHIEFS TO MAKE MIDNIGHT PEP DENIAL

SOMEWHERE ON THE GERMAN FRONTIER, Jan. 10 (AP)—Advices reaching this border point say persistent reports of incipient revolution in Germany following increasing reverses on the eastern front have impelled the Nazi foreign office to make a midnight denial.

Foreign correspondents one night this week were called from bed to be told by telephone of the reports, which the foreign office attributed to British and American sources, and to hear the official denial.

While correspondents themselves could confirm that no open or organized revolutionary movement existed in Berlin, some expressed surprise that the stories created so much concern in Wilhelmstrasse that an immediate denial was considered necessary.

INSIDE STORY OF SHAKEUP

The German press, now acknowledging the seriousness of the situation on the eastern front, has denied, however, reports the Germans are building a defense line along the Oder river in eastern Germany.

Increasingly, information from reliable sources indicates the German army's troubles began when Hitler overruled Field Mashal Walther von Brauchitsch's plan—which reputedly was to fall back to the Berezina river before winter set in.

The Berezina is in White Russia, almost 400 miles from Moscow.

It was said Hitler hoped to press on, whereupon von Brauchitsch resigned.

By that time it was too late to turn back. Real winter set in before the construction of barracks could be started.

BRIDGEWATER PAIR CHARGED WITH MURDER

First-degree murder warrants were issued today against two defective delinquents of the Bridgewater state farm for the brutal bludgeon-slaying of three guards during a New Year's Day uprising.

Named in the warrants were Joseph E. Sheppard, 24, of Worcester, and Donald Millard, 19, of Nashua, N. H.

The warrants were issued at the request of Plymouth County Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Deering by District Court Judge William G. Rowe, following an inquest held at the state farm.

The three guards who met death in the unsuccessful attempt by Sheppard and Millard to break out of the farm were Howard V. Murphy, 48, of Taunton; Franklin L. Woston, 63, of Bridgewater, and George Landry, 64, of Whitman.

The two inmates, serving indeterminate sentences, were clubbed into submission by state police after they had set fire to prison cot mattresses in an effort to impede the progress of their pursuers.

Berlin Radio Hits Revolt Talk as Allied Hoax

BERLIN, Jan. 10 (Official Broadcast Recorded by AP)—The following dispatch from Bucharest was broadcast today by the Berlin radio:

"Rumors of growing dissatisfaction in Germany, spread by Anglo-American propaganda, were launched in the hope of influencing the forthcoming conference (of American foreign ministers) at Rio de Janeiro, according to the Berlin correspondent of the Rumanian paper Timpul, who adds that these reports had created great indignation among foreign press representatives in the German capital.

"The correspondent affirms that not the slightest sign of disorder could be seen anywhere in Berlin, whose inhabitants were calmer and more resolute than ever.

"The best proof of this was furnished by the enthusiasm and spirit of self-sacrifice manifested by the whole population on the occasion of the collection of winter clothing for troops at he east front.

CARRIES BROTHER OUT

A fitting son to such a heroic mother, Charley ran upstairs after getting his mother out and carried his 10-year-old brother, Bobby, through the thick smoke and flames to the yard.

Shivering in the snow, the family was hurried in the Wilmington ambulance to Tewksbury hospital.

There officials said Mrs. Devoe is expecting another baby, and the combination of severe body burns, shock and exposure, gave her little chance to recover.

Peter Devoe, 42, and his daughter, Lillian, 20, had left for work before the fire. They were told of the tragedy, worst in Wilmington's history, and hurried immediately to the bedside of Mrs. Devoe.

Firemen were handicapped in fighting the flames by the long distance to water. They were unable to save the dwelling, but did save a barn.

Rescue, Leap for Life Mark Somerville Fire

Five members of a Somerville family were sreiously injured today in a fire marked by thrilling rescues and an 11-year-old boy's two-story jump for his life.

The victims, trapped in their second story bedrocms after an exploding stove sent flames racing through the first floor, were Mrs. Helen LaPointe, 36; her brother-in-law, Frank LaPointe, 42, and three of her seven children, all of Oliver st., Somerville.

LaPointe sustained severe head and shoulder burns as he enatched his nephew, John, 14, from the boy's burning bed. Both the boy and his uncle were placed on the danger list at Somerville Hospital.

Mrs. LaPointe and four small children were led to safety by Francis Burke, 25, of Ackers ave., Brookline, a passing motorist who heard the blast.

Above th roar of th flames the mother heard the screams of her 11-year-old son, William, who had become confused and remained in the burning house. She suffered face burns in an attempt to dash back into the fire to reach the child.

Disregarding the warning shouts of police and firemen, William plunged from the upstairs window into a snow bank and received internal injuries. He also suffered numerous burns as did a brother, George, 17, carried out by Police Sergt. James Fitzpatrick.

Battery Needs Care To Give Long Wear

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT, Jan. 10 (Wide World)—There used to be a partial excuse for neglecting your car battery—it was either under the front floor boards or under the front seat. Now it is under the hood cover in most cars, easy to get at and easy to see and service.

But wherever it is, you're going to have to give it regular attention if you hope to keep your car in operation during the war emergency when materials that go into a battery may at any time become scarce and create a shortage.

Ordinarily you get a guarantee of one year to 18 months with a new battery; with simple but consistent care you can make it last at least twice that length of time.

The required care consists merely of keeping the plates covered at all times with distilled water; keeping the terminal points tight and clean and having the specific gravity tested frequently at your gasoline service station. If the gravity has dropped it would be well to have the battery re-charged; if the terminals show corrosion, have them brushed vigorously and coated with heavy grease.

Except for the re charging job, you can, if necessary, perform all these operations in your own garage with a bottle of distilled water and a ten cent can of heavy grease. But whether you do them yourself or have them done, see to it that they are done regularly—every two weeks or after every 1000 mile trip you may make in less than that time.

An important precaution, particularly in cold weather, is: Don't replenish the battery water and then immediately garage the car for the night; you may find the new water frozen in the battery in the morning. Instead, put the water in just before using the car, giving it a chance to become well integrated with the fluid already in the battery.

Another article on how to care for your car will be printed on Monday.

Jack Up Car In Storage To Save Tires

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—If you plan to store your car for the winter, or the duration of the tire shortage, jack it up on blocks to take the weight off the tires.

The advice came today from the quartermaster general in a manual on the care and maintenance of tires.

If the car cannot be blocked up, take the manufacturer's direction as to what pressure to inflate the tires of an unused car, the manual advised. Other recommendations included:

Tires that must remain outdoors should be coated with a synthetic rubber paint or a wrapping of heavy canvas.

Since rubber is rotted by light, heat, air in motion, ozone, oils, dust and dirt, dismounted tires and stored in a cool, dark place.

Tire dealers should avoid piling casings flat on each other, to avoid kinking the wire beads and distorting the tire. Stored tires should be cleaned, and if on rims, air pressure should be reduced to a few pounds.

With all precautions, tires should not be stored more than three years, nor tubes more than two. Tubes not in casings should be deflated, folded, and protected from air, mbisture, grease and oil.

VICHY, Jan. 10 (AP)—The French line today published a list of 96 persons saved in the sinking of the 4700-ton passenger liner La Morncicre yesterday in a storm off the Balearic islands.

There were reports that 260 passengers and 100 crew members were aboard, but because of the number of ships which went to the rescue it was not known whether the 96 were the only ones saved.

JAP PLANES DROP 30 BOMBS, FAIL TO HIT DUTCH WARSHIP

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Jan. 10 (AP)—Japanese raiders striking at the oil center of Tarakan, off north Borneo, for the second straight day hurled 30 bombs at a Dutch warship in the harbor but scored no hits, the Netherlands command reported today.

Five members of the crew of a merchant ship anchored nearby were wounded slightly by one of the few bombs which came near the ship, the Dutch command added.

About eight Japanese planes took part in the second consecutive day's attack, the communique said.

"As a target the enemy aircraft had apparently chosen a warship of the Royal Netherlands Navy lying off Tarakan which met previous attacks with anti-aircraft fire," the communique said.

"About 30 bombs were directed at the warship, but no hit was scored, either on the warship or on a merchant ship which was lying nearby. Five members of the merchant ship's crew were, however, slightly wounded by one of the few bombs which came near the ship.

"The ship was insignificantly damaged above the water line."

The communique said Japanese again sent reconnaissance planes over various points of the outer provinces.

These important islands are bracing themselves for a major Japanese invasion thrust which authoritative quarters believed to be imminent. The Japanese have been ceaseless in their aerial reconnaissance and aerial thrusts against outer points.

$2,250,000 GRAIN FIRE; FBI CALLED

SUPERIOR, Wis., Jan. 10 (AP)—Two explosions, followed by fire, destroyed the Great Northern Railroad's elevator X, giant grain storage plant, today with loss estimated at $2,250,000.

Seven persons, including two firemen, were injured fighting the blaze in sub-zero temperature.

Fire Chief Edward Nelson said the Federal Bureau of Investigation would be asked to investigate.

For hours firemen endeavored to prevent the blaze spreading to other grain elevators, three oil tank farms and coal docks in the heart of the city's vital lake front defense production section.

Elevator X contained 1,500,000 bushels of grain, valued at $1 a bushel. Damage to the elevator was set at $750,000, but officials said it could not be replaced for less than $1,000,000.

Elevator X and Elevator S, half a block away, formed a joint grain storage pool described as the largest in the United States. The buildings had a capacity of about 12 million bushels.

A few hours after the fire started Elevator X had been reduced to a mountain of grain erupting liquid fire which rained on the waterfront.

Dr. Otto Dietrich, Hitler's press chief, took a grave view of the conflict in an article in all German newspapers—one of the first official intimations the German people have received that their armies were suffering a near-catastrophic defeat.

DETAILS INCOMPLETE

"Details of the fighting in the Slim river area, reported in yesterday's communique, are still incomplete," the new British war bulletin said.

"Available information confirms the severity of the engagement, during which our forces were withdrawn further to the south.

"On the other fronts in Malaya there is nothing to report."

The Japanese were reported to be bringing all the resources of men and weapons they could muster into a supreme effort to gain more territory on the western Malayan front.

Immediate Japanese objective was to break through to the main road that leads from the region of Kuala Lumpur to Singapore, Britain's Far Eastern defense bastion at the tip of the Malay peninsula.

Latest advices indicated the Japs were making some progress, but that their advance was slow and that they were suffering terrific losses inflicted by the British imperial forces.

"Hostile air activity was again limited to observation flights.

"The reappearance yesterday of a considerable number of enemy vessels off the coast of Mindanao indicates the probability that additional Japanese landings will be made on that island.

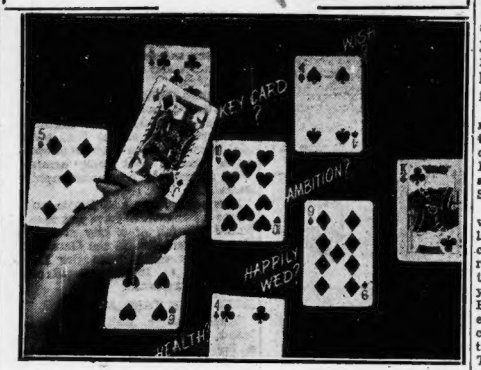
Telling Fortune by Cards Sure Way to Popularity



'Mystic Nine' Method Unfolds the Future

BORROW the fortune-teller's lure. Read the cards for your beau and see if he doesn't fall for it, hook, line and sinker!

"The Mystic Nine" method looks mysterious, but it's really very simple. After he makes a wish, have your beau draw nine cards, picking one to be the "key" card.

You then arrange the nine cards in diamond-shape formation with the key card at the top. Is it a diamond? He'll have piles of money! The two cards below tell if his wish comes true. Black cards, alas, show a long delay; Nine of Hearts shouts YES!

From the three cards in the middle, you gauge his position in life—high cards say it'll be high. The next two are the marriage cards—above a five spot, happiness! An ace, strangely enough, is unhappy. And if the last card—the health card—is low, he'd better coddle himself!

You can get other tips by the thrilling "Moon and Triangle." And Card Oracles tell when you'll marry, if your love will be true. Also fun are horoscopes. Will you and the new beau hit it off? Yes, if he's a "Cancer man" and you're a "Scorpio woman!"

Our 40-page booklet, "Let Me Tell Your Fortune," gives a horoscope for every month, meanings of every card in the deck and gypsy ways to deal. Explains fortunes with tea leaves, dice, dominoes, the "crystal."

Send 15c in coins for our booklet, "Let Me Tell Your Fortune," to Boston Evening American, Home Institute, 109 West 19th st., New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Romance

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU'VE been married ten years. You love your home and your children. Yet wouldn't you, Darby, enjoy a vacation from Joan? Wouldn't you, Joan, like to kiss Darby good-by for a few weeks?

Vacation interludes for the married are no startling innovation in this column, but it takes a writer of 50-years' experience, Samuel Hopkins Adams, to come out in a current magazine and demand a Sabbatical year for married folk.

In the good old days when divorces were fewer and a divorced lady did not appear in general society, there seemed to be fewer reasons for divorce than there are today. The wide spaciousness of yesterday's homes has disappeared. People today are rubbed raw on each other's nerves by too close contacts. They live in tiny flats, two rooms, bath and kitchenette. There's absolutely nowhere for a man to escape from "himself."

And there's no place for a woman to escape from "herself" when she returns from a movie after having seen Charles Boyer, Robert Taylor, Tyrone Power make love to a lady as it should be done.

In urging the Sabbatical year for a marital vacation, Mr. Hopkins advances no further claims than it might give marriage in general a better chance of survival.

ORRIN TUCKER'S BAND HEADLINES THE NEW STAGE SHOW AT RKO-BOSTON

'The Wolf Man' Is Screen Fare

By PEGGY DOYLE

The Orrin Tucker organization, one of the country's first-rate musical units, yesterday gave the RKO-Boston audience an opening-show program that augurs well for the week's boxoffice records.

Showmanship with a capital S is the trademark of the versatile Tucker troupe, which offers an all-around program that combines all the ingredients for smart entertainment.

The opening band number, "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes," was introduced with a novelty arrangement of lighting effects that made for a spectacular buildup for the familiar number.

FOUR STALWARTS

Sally, Darlene and Mary, in naive campus costume, assisted by the four stalwarts composing the Bodyguards, followed with "Chattanooga Choo Choo," an Eddie Rice specialty number. Rice next soloed with "She Don't Wanna," an audience favorite.

The amazing Ambassadorettes, three pretty girls who deserve prettier costumes, next demurely sauntered on stage and promptly started some eye-popping cartwheels, handsprings, somersaults and similar acrobatics. It was exhausting no end for those of us who take our exercise in a fireside armchair turning over the pages.

Nicki Daquilla's guitar solo, "Blue Skies," and Tommy Peterson's trombone number, which is his one and only personally arranged composition, were on the choice side.

NOTES IN LIGHTS

Orchestra Leader Tucker's originality again found vent in the next number, a band novelty tagged "Lighted Notes." It was just that, an arrangement played with illuminated notes, including some sour blue ones visualizing the score.

And right here it was Tucker's turn to rise and shine. He sang "Why Don't We Do This More Often," "I Need Lovin'" and "Do Something", and when he sings he doesn't just let the notes float out—he dresses up the song with feeling and sheer showmanship.

The illuminated beer steins novelty number by the band, tracing the history of steins, is a showstopper, and so is Walter "Dare" Wahl, whose entanglements with his pee-wee partner and their acrobatic clowning and balancing feats are something to arrest your attention.

For film fare, there are "The Wolf Man," with Lon Chaney, Bela Lugosi, Warren William, Ralph Bellamy and Maria Ouspenskaya.

DUTY VS. LOVE—For love of Joan Bennett Newspaperman Don Ameche suppresses the news in "Confirm or Deny," new 20th Century-Fox film with a background of bomb-wracked London, due on the Paramount and Fenway screens Thursday.

Philadelphia Opera Company Sings 'Pelleas and Melisande'

By LEO GAFFNEY

The good pace struck by the visiting Philadelphia Opera Company in "Figaro" and "Faust" lagged a bit in "Pelleas and Melisande." Maybe it is not their fault. Maybe it is impossible to render in precise English all that dream stuff of Maeterlinck's—and keep the dream.

Maybe the "Debussy School," of music, all intangibles, just won't lend itself to anything but French.

Writing no tunes, as such—ever hear of anyone singing an excerpt from "Pelleas"?—Monsieur Claude has used the voices only for mood, color, feeling, atmosphere and so forth. And he has so matched their music to the French words that it seems wrong, somehow, to pry them apart.

"Pelleas" needs more precious staging, too. You can't express massive towers, moon-drenched gardens, seascapes and bottomless pits by a few scraps of scenery. And you can't do it with drapes.

Nevertheless, the bright boys and girls from the City of Brotherly Love are no defeatists. They met all the challenges.

Frances Greer came nearer looking like the beautiful, blonde, mystical Melisande than anyone that has stepped upon the Boston Opera House stage for the past 25 years. She has a lovely voice also and she sang and acted the role with the fragile grace it calls for.

David Brooks' Pelleas could be relied upon more for pitch than tone; more for mathematical certainty than for romantic fire.

Tonight's Opera

Today marks the final two performances to be given by the Philadelphia Opera Company at the Opera House. At the matinee "The Bat" ("Die Fledermaus") by Johann Strauss will be given. Tonight the "Rose Cavalier" by Richard Strauss will be presented.

The orchestral parts used by the Philadelphia Opera Company for its new all-American performance in English of Johann Strauss' gay waltz opera "The Bat" ("Die Fledermaus") are the original parts prepared under the composer's own supervision and used at the world premier of the opera in Vienna in July, 1874, the same year it was composed.

Cheryl Crawford Works on New Play

Cheryl Crawford, whose smashing revival production of George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" at the Shubert Theater is to have its Broadway opening on Jan. 22, will present Marc Connelly's new play, "The Flowers of Virtue," starring Frank Craven, at Washington's National Theater a week from Monday evening.

Pat O'Brien on Met Stage Week of Jan. 22

The Met is scooping local show business with its week-of-January 22 booking of Hollywood's beloved Pat O'Brien, who will share top billing in the big in-person show with Harry James, ace trumpeter, and his orchestra.

'Hedda Gabler' Tickets Go on Sale Monday

Seats go on sale Monday at the Colonial Theater for the Luther Greene revival of "Hedda Gabler," the immortal Ibsen classic which, with Katina Paxinou, famous Greek actress in the stellar role, begins a week's engagement here on Monday evening, Jan. 19. The New York opening immediately follows its stay here.

Producer Greene has engaged a most impressive cast.

WAR-TIME JOBS CALL FOR EXTRA HAND CARE

By ARLINE GOULD

NOW THAT THE GIRLS are learning it doesn't take the strength of a giant to take apart the mysterious innards of automobiles, and that a little pressure on the right wrench will move seemingly adamant metal attachments . . . all this in the name of Defense . . . they must also learn to take extra pains with hand grooming . . . or there's going to be an epidemic of feminine "mechanic's" hands over the land!

It's all very well to solve the problem of WHICH nail polish tone to wear with a uniform . . . for instance a vivid burnished red or a scarlet tinged with golden tones, with brown uniforms . . . or a dark blue red, or orchid red with air force blue . . . but after you have it on . . . you want to be sure it'll last as long as it should, under extra hardships . . . and that the cuticles stay as smooth as they did in more carefree times.

You should learn the miracles of protection and speeded-up drying that are yielded through a new liquid . . . it is brushed over freshly applied polish to add a diamond-like brilliance and hardness to it . . . and when run over the edges of the nail prevents nicks and chipping.

Outdoor hands need extra care. Don't slight them. Dip generously into your cream jar, and occasionally cover your hands at night with flannel mittens to ward off red, chapped skin. Watch your cuticle particularly. You'd be surprised how it will respond to a little home treatment with oil and nail cream.

Remember a flexible cuticle is a smooth one free of ragged, brittle breaks that encourage painful hangnails and stocking runs. If you do break a precious nail be patient with it until you get to your manicurist . . . she can fix it so it'll grow out whole again, and look well all the while!

If you'd like information on any of these aids, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

• FOOD •

By Martha Lee

WE AMERICANS love to be efficient. We jump at every labor-saving gadget, every time-saving trick. How our men boast that their women folk can toss off, in the twinkling of an eye, delightful little meals or tasty snacks for unexpected guests. And American women are pretty smart at doing just that.

Efficient traits all come in mighty handy with all we have ahead of us now. Any new idea that cuts down housekeeping time and labor without sacrificing results gives more time for war work.

Here's a "kill two birds with one stone" idea. Keep in the refrigerator a jar of gingerbread mix that will make two batches of gingerbread or several dozen muffins for that day when gingerbread is in order but time is at a premium. Half the work of measuring and mixing will be in back of you. Delicious, spicy gingerbread can be turned out in a jiffy.

HOME-MADE GINGERBREAD MIX

4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tbsp. soda
1 tbsp. ginger
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. salt
1 cup sugar
1 cup lard

Sift flour with remaining dry ingredients. Cut lard into dry ingredients with a pastry blender until mixture is very fine. Store gingerbread mix in refrigerator, using from it the desired amount whenever hot gingerbread, gingerbread cup cakes, upside-down gingerbread and so on are desired. Makes six cups.

HOT GINGERBREAD

3 cups home-made gingerbread mix
½ cup molasses
½ cup buttermilk
1 egg, well beaten

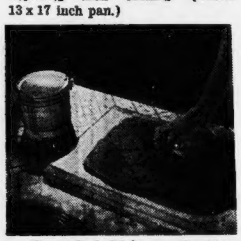
Heat molasses and buttermilk together and add to gingerbread mix. Stir until smooth and then add the egg. Pour into 9-inch square pan and bake in a moderate oven of 350 deg. F. for 35 minutes or until done.

Another good idea is to make up a batch of cookies and keep them on hand to serve as a quick dessert with applesauce or canned fruit. These Cape Cod molasses cookies, for example, have the tang of old-fashioned gingerbread and a pleasantly nutty flavor imparted by a generous sprinkling of all-bran throughout the batter.

CAPE COD MOLASSES COOKIES

1-3 cup shortening
½ cup sugar.
1 egg
¼ cup milk
1-3 cup molasses
½ cup all-bran
1½ cups flour
¼ tsp. soda
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. cloves

Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add egg; beat until creamy. Add milk, molasses and all-bran. Add flour which has been sifted with soda, baking powder, salt and spices; mix well. Line bottom of large shallow pan or baking sheet with waxed paper; grease paper and sides of pan with melted fat. Spread batter very thin in prepared pan. Bake in slow oven (300 deg. F.) about 25 minutes. Cut diagonally into diamond shapes as soon as cookies are removed from pan. Let cool slightly before removing from pan. Makes 4 dozen 1¼ x 1½ inch cookies (about 13 x 17 inch pan.)



Cape Cod Molasses Cookies have the tang of old-fashioned gingerbread.

Fashion

A JUNIOR DATE dress with all the lure of Veronica Lake and the charm of Judy Garland . . . that's something to have ready for her when she comes home for vacation after midyears . . . and here it is! The colors are high pastels . . . the skirt is one continuous whirl of flared pleats, all around. And tucks, radiating from the surplice closing taper a waistline which is apt to show the effects of that regular 3 o'clock ice cream soda. A supple jersey of acetate rayon is perfect for such fine tucking and pleating.—ANNICE BRINK.

DRESS SHOPPING COMES AFTER CORSET PURCHASE

By BETTINA BEDWELL

WITH 1942 already more than a week old, spring is certainly no more than around the corner, and your spring clothes should be in your minds right now. It is extraordinary, considering all the talk about it, how few women and girls begin planning a wardrobe at the bottom. The bottom is your own body lines, and unless you start with some understanding of what your lines add up to, you're sunk before you start on the road to being a well-dressed woman.

Figure out your figure before you buy a single stitch, and if you have done this already for past seasons, check up and find out if and where your figure is changed since last time. Then get a corset to tone down bad points and improve good ones. After that you're ready to start compiling your clothes.

Women's bodies fall into about seven basic shapes, so your task isn't very difficult. There's average, which is a figure that is well proportioned, with the waistline in the normal place and in sizes from 34 to 44. Then there's short average, and tall average, which need no explanation. There are youthful, young girl, and stout figures, in tall and short. Find out which you are.

Victory Plan for Rural Areas

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

National Woman Director of Civilian Defense

WASHINGTON, Friday—Last night a group of us, who used to meet very much more often, got together for dinner and had a very pleasant evening.

I thought, however, that I would never get down to them, because I came home from the Office of Civilian Defense a few minutes after 5:00 to find a man with whom I had a 5:00 o'clock appointment had waited for me and gone.

But a gentleman who was due at 6:00 o'clock was somewhat late and left after my dinner guests had arrived!

I spent two hours at the office this morning and at 11:00 o'clock went down to meet with a group of the Agriculture Department Extension people working on the 4-H Club program.

They told me what they had developed for their victory work in rural areas and assured me that they would co-operate in the OCD youth activities program in every possible way.

Then we discussed how best the Office of Civilian Defense could help them to carry out a program which would not only make the community strong now, but leave it stronger at the end of the war to meet post-war problems.

THE VICTORY BOOK campaign starts on Jan. 12. This is a "nationwide campaign to collect reading materials for many needs, arising from the national defense and war program."

Miss Althea Warren has been given four months leave of absence from the Los Angeles Pubile Library to direct this campaign and she has her offices with the USO in the Empire State Building in New York city. Good books of every kind are needed for the USO reading rooms.

Each clubhouse, of which there are now 400, with many more contemplated, will have space from 500 to 2000 volumes. There are state directors in practically every state and your state librarian can give you the address of the special directors appointed for these collections.

If you do not know where to write in your state, write to Miss Althea Warren, 1630 Empire State building, New York City, and she will tell you where to send your books.

IT'S A WONDERFUL THING to feel that in this emergency everyone wants to help. I was glad to hear the New York Ass'n. for the Blind is starting a course for volunteers on Jan. 13th. The course is designed to train volunteers for service with the blind.

It will make it possible for them to help the blind to adjust to war conditions, which make even the ordinary occurrences of life more difficult. If you attend one of these courses and learn what modern procedures and policies are in New York City, you can be helpful in your own home town when you return there.

Smart Set Functions

MAKING THE MOST of the only Junior Dinner Dance of the season, younger Beantown socialites flocked to the Copley-Plaza ballroom last evening to dance into the wee small hours in a spirit of gaiety and fun . . . Because of the war and demands on time and purse strings, the three dances held each winter in this exclusive series were all rolled into one this year . . . and the girls made the most of the occasion by wearing their most glamorous gowns . . .

The girls who were looking forward to dancing with handsome officers in dress blue and khaki at this first war time dinner dance were disappointed, for there were not any uniformed partners in the throng of guests . . . Charles Hovey, an officer in the Navy, provided the only reminder of a world at war by arriving in his Navy great coat and gold trimmed cap, but he doffed these to dance in a conventional tuxedo . . . His lovely wife, Anita, accented her blonde hair with a diaphanous gown of turquoise tulle over many layers of brown tulle, and had a scarf of the two colors thrown over her shoulders . . .

Piquant Mrs. H. Bowen White of Cohasset wore a slim black velvet dress with a gardenia fastened to each shoulder strap and a coronet of pearls in her blonde hair . . . Olivia Ames and Mary West, who arrived in a foursome with their escorts, wore lovely gowns, too . . . Olivia's made of alternating wide bands of turquoise velvet and black taffeta, and Mary in a portrait gown of bright red velvet with long sleeves and an off-the-shoulder neckline edged with sable . . .

Strolling through the foyer with Eddie Fay, Ellen Moseley looked very attractive in hyacinth blue taffeta fashioned over a hoop skirt, and with a strapless bodice . . . Pink flowers at the waistline and short white gloves completed her outfit . . .

THE HISTORIC old seaport town of Salem is rife with romance this week-end . . . with two prominent post-debs of that community joining the ranks of brides-to-be . . . Today Mr. and Mrs. Warren H. Butler are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Harriet Hathaway Butler to William Huntington Shreve, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Shreve, have long been neighbors of the Butler family on historic Chestnut Street . . .

Harriet made her debut at a luncheon at the Hotel Somerset in October 1937, following her graduation from the Lee School . . .

The other Salem engagement concerns the petite and vivacious post-deb daughter of a prominent North Shore family . . . It will be announced at a tea tomorrow afternoon so except for telling you that the bridegroom-to-be is in a Coast Artillery Regiment and the wedding will be in early February, we'll have to keep you guessing who's who until tomorrow.

Post-deb Harriet Hathaway Butler of Salem who today joins the ranks of prospective brides with announcement of her engagement to William Huntington Shreve, also of Salem. Miss Butler, a Junior League member, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren H. Butler. Her fiance is the son of the Benjamin Shreves.

LOVE'S PLEDGE

By Elsie Robinson

THEY'VE had a brawl. One of those rumpuses newlyweds are so apt to have on their first New Year together. Both of them emotionally wacky. Punch-drunk with romance. Up-on-a-peak-and-don't-know-how-to-get-down.

So now she has gone home to Mama. And both of them are having a wonderful time Being Sorry for themselves. But neither will give in. Or make a Fresh Start. For this time, they vow, it must be The Real Thing. Never—never—NEVER—will they go off the deep end again just because—

They're sorry for each other—
Or mad—
Or glad—
Or lonesome.
NO-O-O-O-O-OOO!
This time it must be the Guaranteed Goods!
THEY MUST BE REALLY SURE
That they're right.
AB-SO-TIVE-LY THE RIGHT MATES
For each other . . .
And, until they're sure,
They won't make any more
False starts.

Yes'm, that's a real letter. Written by a real girl and her honest-to-goodness husband. Written with absolute sincerity . . . and very obvious misery. And, until the misery gets you by the throat, you'll probably think that I'm making an extremely silly use of valuable space. But I won't be.

For we all "want to be sure" before we go ahead. We all want to be certain that there will be no more argument or uncertainty, indifference or irritation . . . kisses or kicks in the shin.

WHICH IS A COCKEYED BLUEPRINT FOR ANY PLAN.

There's no such thing as "being sure" about any human arrangement,

"I'VE GOTTA BE SURE."

Which is utterly cuckoo. No man or woman could succeed in any program if they started with such a premise. The thing's preposterous. Neither life nor love can work that way. For the very things against which we so stupidly rebel are the things which bind us together.

THE VERY FLAWS WHICH ROUSE OUR IRE PROVE IN THE LONG RUN TO BE THE FOUNDATION OF OUR COMMON TOLERANCE, TENDERNESS AND TRUST.

We do not cling to each other because we are assured of mutual perfection or protection. We cling because we're both imperfect . . . unhappy . . . bewildered . . . lonely needing each other as truly as we need the friendly hand of God.

"I need you . . . I love you . . . God helping me I'll give you the best I have." There's the one true and sure marriage vow. If you can't commit yourself to that, you've no right asking.

'Peggy' Porter Is Bride Today

Wearing a bridal gown of white chiffon and a veil of old family lace, Miss Margaret D. "Peggy" Porter of Beacon st. is being married this afternoon to Capt. Chandler Bigelow of Beverly Farms, a Massachusetts State Senator.

The Rev. Phillips Osgood and Rev. Bradford Burnham are performing the ceremony at Leslie Lindsey Memorial Chapel. Only members of the immediate families are attending the ceremony and the small reception which followed at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Charles Allen Porter.

Miss Isabel Porter, sister of the bride and a well known landscape architect, is the only attendant. Her gown is of pink crepe appliqued with gold and she is wearing a coronet of gold leaves in her hair.

MISS COFFIN TO WED

A small family wedding in the near future is being planned by post-deb Hannah Balch Coffin of Brookline, whose engagement to Dr. Wilson Fitch Smith of Hartford, Ct., is being announced this afternoon by her mother, Mrs. Winthrop Coffin . . . The bride-to-be graduated from Beaver Country Day and Bennington College . . . Dr. Smith, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Smith of New York, graduated from Yale in 1930 and received his medical degree from Cornell Medical.

SLIGHT RAISE IN SUGAR PRICE IS AUTHORIZED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP) — Refiners were authorized today to increase the price of refined sugar 20 cents a hundred pounds.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson announced that wholesale prices were being adjusted proportionately, but declared the action "should have no immediate effect upon the price of refined sugar at retail."

"Retailers are now selling supplies which they acquired at lower prices," the price administrator said, adding that he thought retailers could "be depended upon to delay any price increase until their present stocks on hand are exhausted, and they must pay higher wholesale prices for replacement supplies."

Other official sources said that when the increase was passed on to the public it should not amount to more than one cent on five pounds of sugar.

HAVE TWO CHOICES

Adjustment of the refining price ceiling was necessary, Henderson said, because several refiners have exhausted their stocks of low-cost raw sugar.

It is intended to compensate in part for a recent 24-cent increase in the ceiling price on raw cane sugar. This raised the raw price to $3.74 a hundred New York basis.

Wholesalers, under the revised schedule, may choose between two levels in selecting their maximum basic prices. They may take the highest price at which they sold similar grades in the period Oct. 6-11, 1941, or the period Dec. 1-6, 1941.

NEW RULE COMING

To the maximum basic price thus chosen, the wholesaler may add any actual increase in net purchase cost of sugar bought after that date. Before making any sales at prices reflecting higher net purchase costs, however, he must dispose of his entire inventory of lower cost sugars.

It was announced also that OPM was working on a revised sugar limitation order, which is expected to supercede the present order about Feb. 1.

The new order will be similar to the original one, except that it will permit deliveries of sugar to commercial and industrial users in any period of 1942 only in the amount used by the receiver in the corresponding period of 1941. The original order based monthly deliveries in 1942 on deliveries for the corresponding month in 1940.

U. S. CIVILIAN COST PUT AT 500 MILLION

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Ultimate passage of the civilian defense bill will set in motion an equipment procurement program which eventually may cost the federal government $500,000,000 or more, in addition to large outlays by states and cities in potential air raid areas.

Informed officials made this estimate today as a conference committee of senators and representatives attempted to compose differences between the civilian protection measures passed by each branch.

The House bill limits the initial authorized cost to $100,000,000 and transfers administrative control to the War Department. The Senate version places no restrictions on funds and leaves control with Mayor F. H. Laguardia of New York.

LAGUARDIA TO STAY

Administration leaders predicted that Laguardia would retain his directorship under the final enactment. They based this partly on President Roosevelt's action yesterday in naming Dean James M. Landis of Harvard Law School as "executive" of the OCD to relieve some of the burden off Laguardia, who also must run the affairs of New York city.

Landis will help in framing policies and get the personnel to carry them out.

The first $100,000,000 appropriation for civilian defense will be only a drop in the bucket compared to the ultimate cost, according to OCD officials.

$130,000,000 ASKED

The budget bureau already has before it a request for more than $23,000,000, and gas masks alone for 50,000,000 civilians in the potential largest areas for enemy raiders will cost $175,000,000 at $3.50 per mask.

The target areas include cities of 2500 or more population within 300 miles of the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts, and key industrial centers in the interior.

Blue Network Separate Chain

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Blue Network, Inc., came into being today. Formerly the Blue Division of the National Broadcasting Co., it hereafter will operate as an entirely separate network.

David Sarnoff, president of Radio Corp. of America, made this announcement almost simultaneously with the filing of incorporation papers at Dover, Del. The company, like NBC, is a wholly-owned subsidiary of RCA.

Decision to split NBC into individual networks was brought to a head by the objection of the Federal Communications Commission to NBC having two networks. The Commission, after hearings on the question of monopoly in broadcasting, issued new rules, last spring, on network operation. Since then, the controversy has been taken to the Federal courts by both sides. NBC, along with CBS, seeking a restraining order and the government charging monopoly.

Reporter-Survivor Tells Thrilling Story

along the deck, for the second crashed through amidships with a blinding flash and the third struck forward, just under a six-inch gun turret.

The ship listed quickly and heavily to port, shuddering all over.

The warship dipped on the port side and I caught hold of the starboard deck rail, adn the sharp heeling over flung me sliding into the sea. Hundreds of officers and seamen plunged into the water along with me.

Alexander Massers, a fellow newspaperman shouted to me, I never saw him again.

REPORTED DEAD

(A Cairo dispatch on Dec. 17 announced that Anderson, who had been through the bombing of the illustrious with Allen last January, had been killed at sea.)

I could not swim. The cruised disappeared with a tremendous suction, leaving a huge lake of oil on the sea, and I swallowed large quantities of oily scum. The water all around was dotted with the heads of hundreds of sailors. A sailor hauled me into a small motorboat, but it tipped over, hurling us all into the sea.

I joined with scores of others in crying for help, hoping in the pitch darkness to attract the attention of the destroyers. No one had a flashlight, so it was difficult for the rescue ships to find us.

RESCUERS ARRIVE

At that moment I saw a huge black silhouette of a destroyer about 75 yards ahead.

A big wave pushed me forward almost directly under the propellers of the Destroyer Griffin.

I called for help until my throat felt burned out. Suddenly a long, oily rope was flung over the side. I grasped it, but there was no strength left in my hands, yet somehow I managed to hang on.

A raft drifted against the destroyer's side, banging my head against the warship and I cried out time and again:

"Stop it. You're killing me."

Sailors on the raft grasped the rope ladder and clambered up safely while I fought desperately to keep from drowning. Several stepped upon my head, pushing me down into the water.

Only half conscious, I hooked my right arm through one rung of the ladder, which helped to keep my head above water occasionally, and again I called out for help.

SAILOR SAVES HIM

A young British sailor aboard the raft saved my life, passing a thick, heavy rope under my arms, tied it and flung the end to the quarterdeck of the destroyer. Three other sailors slowly pulled me out of the sea.

"This fellow's an American," I dimly heard someone say as they read the words "American naval correspondent" on the sleeve of my oil-soaked coat while pressing the water from my lungs.

Then for the next ten hours, while the navy searched the sea for the submarine which torpedoed the Galatea, I lay on a mass of greasy rags and oil-soaked clothes, too weak to get on my feet.

In addition to the survivors rescued by the Griffin, another destroyer, the Hotspur, picked up 75. The Galatea's normal complement was 580 men.

Murder Charge Sought Against Farm Slayers

Murder charges will be sought against two Bridgewater State Farm inmates as the result of the inquest into the New Year's Day riot in which three guards were killed, Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing asserted today.

Naming Donald Millard, 18, of Nashua, N. H., and Joseph E. Sheppard, 24, of Worcester, the district attorney said their cases would go to the grand jury in February.

"Unbelievable living conditions at the prison farm were revealed during the inquest," Dewing asserted. "It's a miracle that they have not had more serious trouble before this because of the lack of gaurds."

Judge William G. Rowe of Brockton district court presided at the inquest, held at the farm. Corrections Commr. Arthur T. Lyman, Governor's Councilor Frank Brooks, State Police Lt. A. J. Brouillard and Medical Examiner Pierce H. Leavitt of Brockton attended the closed session.

State Rep. James P. McDevitt, spokesman for the legislative committee on public welfare, said members of the group were "shocked" at overcrowded conditions and low pay of guards at the State Farm, following a surprise visit to the institution.

DAY BY DAY DIAL DOINGS!

Read the up-to-the-minute "Best Bet" selections and the last-minute special broadcasting highlights featured on the Radio pages in the Daily Record and Evening American. Keep abreast of activity on the air with the complete timetable of programs every quarter-hour of every hour of every day.

HOW TO MAKE TIRES LAST

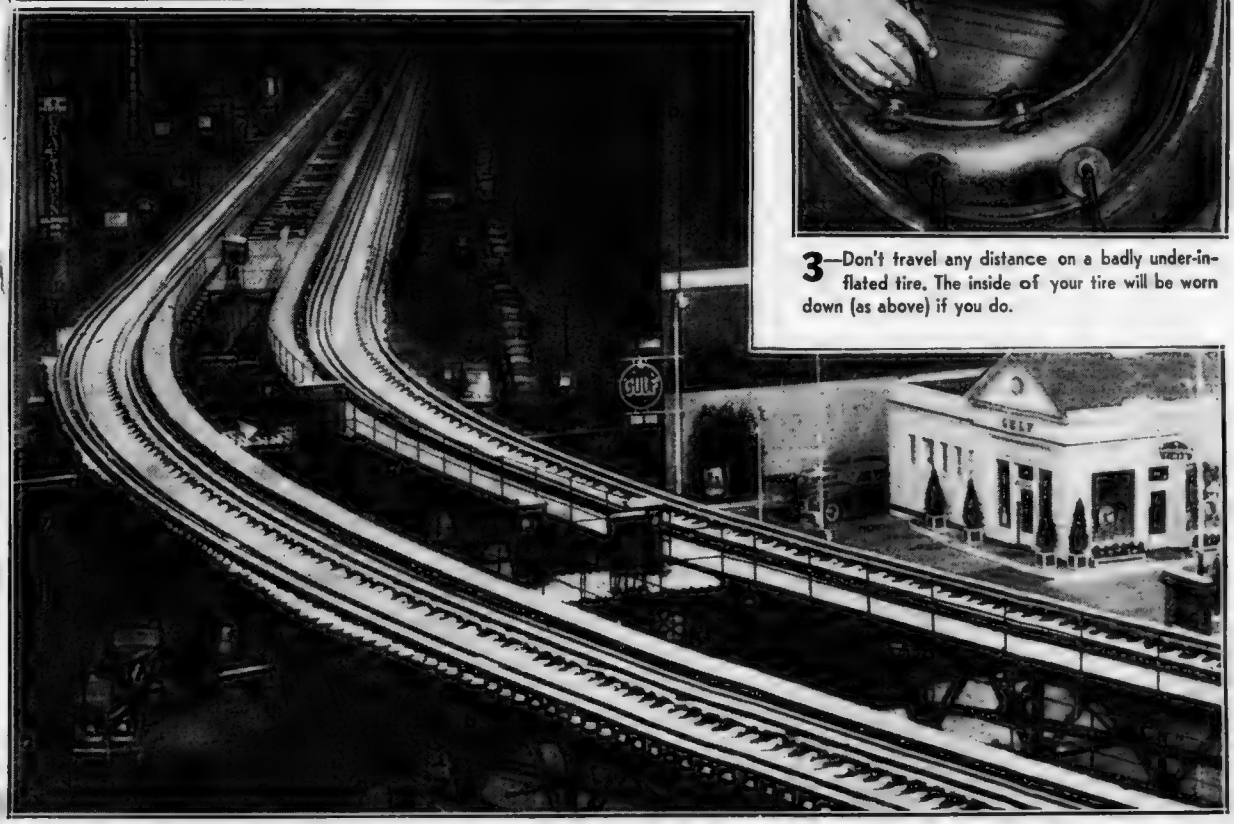
These Rules Will Help You Get Maximum Mileage

1—By following the three simple rules illustrated here, your auto tires will last longer. Never let pebbles (as above), glass or other foreign objects remain in tire or between tread.

2—Don't drive fast over rough, rutted roads. What this will do to an automobile tire is obvious. Better by far to go slowly over bumps and ridges.

3—Don't travel any distance on a badly under-inflated tire. The inside of your tire will be worn down (as above) if you do.

El Must Come Down



To Go at Owners' Expense—The State Supreme Court declares forfeited the rights of the Boston Elevated with regard to the Atlantic ave. structure and franchise . . . a decision which means that the Elevated must tear down the structure (above) at its own expense. Thousands of tons of scrap metal, vital for America's defense, will come down with the overhead "road."

OUR DAILY CITATION: To the officers and crew of the Allied submarine which torpedoed and damaged a large Japanese freighter within a hundred miles of Tokyo yesterday. A blockade of the densely populated island empire is possible. This submarine proves it.

OUR American soldiers in Alaska have not forgotten home and the friendships they hope soon to renew.

Evidence of this wholesome desire is the soldiers' choice of Miss Joan Leslie of Hollywood as their "ideal girl."

JOAN LESLIE
Soldiers' "Ideal Girl"

Speaking for his buddies, Private Jack Nibecker wrote Miss Leslie a few days ago, saying:

"You are representative of the girls we left behind."

We admire this sparkling young actress. We liked her particularly when she appeared with Gary Cooper in "Sergeant York."

But we do not think she can ever really take the place of that "best girl of all" who ranks first in every khaki wearer's affections.

This "best girl of all" may never have her beauty photographed for the silver screen or achieve prominence in newspaper society columns. Indeed, she may not venture beyond the limits of her home town.

Yet she has something better and finer. She has the love of a man who is making America's future existence possible. And some day she will be his wife.

BACK FROM DEATH came a man who underwent a surgical operation on his left lung at New England Deaconess Hospital several months ago.

Now, the story of the man's amazing survival and recovery is told in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

There was no heartbeat. There had not been any for twenty minutes.

But this was an exceptional case. Two brilliant doctors maintained artificial circulation by rhythmic compression of the heart by hand, while oxygen was supplied to the lungs by pressure on the rebreathing bag that had been used to administer the anesthesia.

Soon the heart resumed its own contractions, and a few seconds later the man began to breathe.

This was a truly great achievement. Too bad the good doctors waited so long to tell us about it. The proper place for a medical feat of that magnitude was on the front pages of the nation's newspapers not this week but when it happened in August.

ALL PATRIOTIC AMERICANS will hail the decision of the full bench of the Massachusetts Supreme Court that paves the way for early demolition of the Atlantic avenue structure of the Boston Elevated Railway.

The thousands of tons of valuable iron and steel that are collecting rust and dust in this long-idle branch of the "El" will provide many tanks for our armed forces at home and abroad.

We shall always remember the day we went to the post-office to drop our last year's automobile registration plates in a scrap metal box.

On the way, we passed under the Atlantic avenue structure and contrasted the two small pieces of steel we were turning in with the vast quantity of the metal overhead that other folks were NOT turning in.

GOOD COMMON SENSE is being broadcast by the Boston Chamber of Commerce Committee on Finance.

Mr. Alexander Wheeler and the other gentlemen who comprise this far-sighted body are advising municipal officials to look ahead to a period of total war, and, following that, to a period of post-war adjustment. They say:

"If public officials and citizens together attack our future problems diligently and in a spirit of sincerity and harmony, the chances of success would be improved immeasurably."

They might add:

"Boston and all other cities and towns should eliminate all extravagance, waste and political hay-making so that more money will be available for the new ships, airplanes and guns the United States needs to win the war."

The politician who throws away dollars that belong in the defense program is helping the enemy, and he is no better than a subversive alien or fifth columnist.

On The Side

-:- -:- By E. V. DURLING

As within the little rose you find the richest dyes
And in a grain of gold much
price and value lies,
So in a little woman there's a taste of paradise.
The skylark and the nightingale,
though small and light of wing,
Yet warble sweeter in the grove
than all the birds that sing,
And so a little woman though a very little thing
Is sweeter far than sugar and flowers that bloom in spring.
—JUAN RUIZ DE HITA.

THIS is printed by request of a young gentleman who says his girl friend is "the cutest little trick in the 13 original States." He wants to enclose it in a "day-we-met anniversary gift." That "day-we-met" anniversary is something new. What was the date of the day you first met your wife, sir?

AUTOMOBILE EXPERT claims if you drive at 35 miles per hour instead of 45 you will save almost enough money in five years to buy a new automobile . . . As black is not a color but an absence of color it is erroneous to refer to a Negro as a "colored man" . . . Did I say there were only six good actresses in Hollywood? Forget it. Make it seven. I have just seen Olivia De Havilland in "Hold Back the Dawn" . . . "Everybody in Hollywood is much worried about the new income tax schedules," says a contemporary. Some feminine Hollywoodians don't have to worry so much because alimony payments and money received under a separation agreement between man and wife is non-taxable.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: "I am a young matron, the mother of two children. My husband is a very handsome, 180-pound, blue-eyed blonde fellow who gives me absolutely no trouble," writes a Chicagoan. I hope, sir, your wife can say the same of you. I asked my wife about this and she said the best she could at this time was to say I gave her "very little trouble" . . . This afternoon I saw a feminine star I know to be over 40 years of age. But she looks to be about 21. And I don't mean only on the screen but when you see her in person. How do they do it? . . . In a before the Pearl Harbor incident prediction, the astrologer Raphael said it looked like war with Japan because "President Roosevelt's Mars is on Japan's moon." Inasmuch as this star gazer rung the bell with that prediction, it is interesting to note he predicts Edith Willkie will be "America's next First Lady" and that Walter Winchell will in 1942 be appointed to a nationally important position.

PLEASE NOTE: "Shouldn't the husband always carry his bride over the threshold of their new home?" asks a Bostonian. I guess so, lady. But then suppose Mickey Rooney married Kate Smith? . . . Women believe condition of a female's neck reveals her age. Ida Lupino says the best neck beautifying exercise is to try to bite an apple on a string. Feminine film fans are great followers of the beauty advice of the stars. So, sir, if you come home unexpectedly and see your wife hopping around trying to bite an apple swinging on a string don't be alarmed.

SIDELIGHTS: Is said the least popular months to be married in order named are January, August and March. I was married in March. I was afraid to wait until June, thinking the girl might change her mind. The competition was terrific . . . "Take the present communiques as to Russian victories with a grain of salt," states an arm chair general. He could be right. But then as the Russians never minimized their defeats in the past why should they exaggerate their victories now? . . . Observed Bellamy Brooks: "The woman who boasts she can get any man she wants usually wants any man she can get!" . . . Lillian Hellman, America's most successful feminine playwright, is a cute little trick type. Lillian is just about five feet tall.

BEAUTIFUL OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND
Makes Durling Change His Mind About Actresses

ASIDES: "The hasty marriage is like the speeding car—it meets early disaster," states a matrimonial expert. More nonsense. Question any 12 divorcees you meet and you will find that as many long engagement marriages go on the rocks as the short engagement kind . . . The Japs follow a policy of military action similar to the Nazis. The big idea is to wait for a lull and catch the enemy off guard. A United States theme song should be: "There Ain't Going to Be No Lull" or, perhaps to be exact, "There Ain't Going to Be No More Lull."

ADDED DETAILS: When bombing the Nazi capital British airmen often drop some cards on their departure. On these cards is printed in German: "I give my word to the German people no British aircraft will ever fly over Berlin—Hermann Goering" . . . A Middle West minister makes a recording of the marriage ceremonies he performs and makes a present of same to the then happy pair. Suppose you had a recording of your marriage ceremony. You could play it over every now and then and point out to your wife that she promised to obey you . . . "Why don't you mention Glenn Miller more?" writes a young woman of Brooklyn. "Don't you know that when it comes to women having idols that band leaders are now more popular than movie stars? Why, I love Glenn Miller as much as I once loved Robert Taylor."

SONGS: Seems to be considerable difference of opinion as to what were George M. Cohan's six best songs. Here are the titles of some of Mr. Cohan's best songs. Now you pick your six best: "Always Leave Them Laughing When You Say Good-Bye," "Give My Regards to Broadway," "I Want to Hear a Yankee Doodle Tune," "I Was Born in Virginia," "Life's a Funny Proposition After All," "Mary's a Grand Old Name," "When I'd Be Satisfied with Life," "Venus, My Shining Love," "Over There" and "You're a Grand Old Flag."

Broadway's Voice

JESSIE MATTHEWS SERIOUSLY ILL

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—Dorothy Lamour's most devoted escort on her current trip to Manhattan is Bentley Ryan—law partner of Greg Bautzer, whom she very recently aired! . . . Leonora Corbett's newest blithe spirit is a big radio executive . . . Joe Pasternak, is slated to inherit Hunt Stromberg's producer position at MGM . . . Jessie Matthews' illness is tragic, and has the smypathy of all Broadway . . . Sonny Tufts, the Beachcomber crooner, has settled his entire trust fund on his former wife, Barbara Dare . . . Alistair Mackintosh has a glint in his eye for beautiful Helen Stedman . . . Winston Churchill's "siren suit," which he modeled for the photogs in Washington, is already in production here and will be marketed shortly . . . Bob Hope and Red Skelton are becoming a real feud.

BOTH THE AUTHORS of "Brooklyn, U. S. A." have received the cinema come-on. John Bright will tap his typewriter in Hollywood for $1250 a week; Asa Bordages, who was offered a smaller sum, declined . . . Beverly Paterno is auditioning for a singing job at Armando's . . . Count Olege Cassini, who couldn't afford to buy Gene Tierney an expensive wedding ring when they eloped a few months ago, has replaced her plain band with a $1500 diamond circlet . . . The town's most popular very, very late spot is about to reopen . . . Several of the major movie companies are interested in proposed new radio network which would be on the air for only three hours a night—from 7 to 10—and sell one-minute "spot" commercials on its variety shows . . . Intimates say Babe Ruth's break-down was brought about principally by a too-strenuous reducing campaign. He wanted to look "in the pink" for his role in the Lou Gehrig movie . . . Josie Johnson (Mrs. Blaine Faber) is in the hospital for an appendectomy . . . Mary Blackwood, the Conover model, is wearing a gigantic diamond from Billy Miesegaes, a Dutch lad engaged 'n making defense films for the government . . . Ann Staunton, the show-girl, and Dick Fishell, the sports announcer, are a heartillery barrage . . . Sophie Tucker celebrates her birthday and her 35th year in show business on Tuesday.

GOLD STARS: To the Andrews Sisters' recording of "The Shrine of St. Cecilia" . . . The dancing "Six Grays" at Iceland Restaurant . . . Lynn, Royce and Vanya, the show-stoppers in "Banjo Eyes" . . . ARTIE SHAW and Phyllis Brooks are doing some quiet dating . . . Bugsy Seigal is ailing in California and may not be well enough to stand trial next month as scheduled . . . Dont be surprised if Gen. Maxim Weygand turns up in Africa in the position he recently gave up because of "illness." And don't be surprised if the French fleet shortly joins the fleets of the United Nations in the fight against the Axis . . . Evelyn Carmel, of "The Lady Comes Across," is divorcing her mate. Her next may be Ben Platt, Jr. . . . Jack Leonard, the singer, was mustered out of the Army recently because he was over 28—but he's been mustered right back. He was onstage in a Passaic theater Tuesday when he was summoned back to camp, and he had to leave without finishing the engagement.

J. EDGAR HOOVER is ready with a blistering answer to critics who have been seeking to lay a great part of the blame for the Pearl Harbor disaster in his lap. Hoover tried to warn the government of Jap Fifth-Columning in Hawaii but allegedly was blocked by Army and Navy officials who were sure the Japs couldn't get within miles of Honolulu. He will "name names" if a showdown comes . . . Estelle and LeRoy the ballroom dancers, are on the verge of a marital split-up . . . Those two lovely girls Jimmy Dorsey has been trotting around town are the daughters of the late Victor Schertzinger, Hollywood director-composer, who died just after completing "The Fleet's In," which marks Dorsey's movie debut . . . Writer Luther Davis is hurt at an intimation (elsewhere) that he's not No. 1 man in Dolly De Milhau's life . . . The bathing beach problem will loom large next summer. Most of Manhattan's and Brooklyn's most popular beaches are marked "No Trespassing" already . . . You'll be relieved to know that the next edition of the Cafe Society Register has been saved for posterity. It's publisher, George Peabody, sold some old papers in a burst of patriotism—and then had to buy them back when he found he'd included the manuscript of the C. S. R.

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

THE YEAR 1942 UNDOUBTEDLY will bring major surprises from all points of the compass, but probably no domestic piece of unexpectedness will rival Joe Louis' brief speech of acknowledgment after Bill Corum introduced him to the radio public . . . "Joe, if you live to be a hundred, you'll never receive another ovation like the one these folks just gave you," said Corum . . . "Thank you, Bill," said Joe . . . "They were lovely . . ." From the toughest, greatest heavyweight of modern times . . . "they were lovely." . . . To the usual adjectives, including "toughest and greatest," the roar of that mob last night indicated that "most popular" heavyweight champion is rightfully a description of the Brown Bomber as he stands—and fights—today.

WENDELL WILLKIE either is unfamiliar with sports, or he was straining to be individual when he pronounced the champion's name Loo-ey . . . He did it twice . . . His third boner was calling Buddy Baer, Max . . . For all his fervent and sincere patriotism, Willkie frequently seemed to be unacquainted with the American idiom in the millions of words which have come from his mouth since Philadelphia thrust him into national prominence . . . We heard it argued when he was campaigning that the public never felt completely at ease with Willkie . . . His timing in speechmaking was terrible, always . . . In spite of his sincerity, he never quite projected himself as "one of the boys" . . . The Grotonian Roosevelt, steeped in culture and all, has the common touch and the ability to "speak the language."

A HILARIOUS STORY is making the rounds of the recruiting offices . . . A big colored boy was asked his name . . . "Mah name is Sergeant York th' Secon'!" the aspiring recruit declared . . . "But what's your real name?" the recruiting officer insisted . . . "Dat'll do foh de duration!" was the answer.

THE SHANDRA-KALY DANCERS, which consist of Shandra himself, a half-Hindu-half-Frenchman, and two Hindu girls, will open at the Latin Quarter tomorrow night . . . Carmen Miranda was responsible for the trio coming to America . . . They danced six years ago at President Vargas' inauguration ball in Carmen's native Brazil . . . After she clicked in "Streets of Paris," and took on the oracular standing any successful person attains on Broadway, Miss Miranda recommended Shandra-Kaly to a New York nightclub owner . . . Hired at once, they have been nearly as successful as their sponsor since coming to America . . . On the same bill are Carole and Sherod, whose advance heralding is very extravagant . . . In contrast to the visiting Hindus, there is very little "foreign color" to the Misses Carole and Sherod . . . One hails from Adams and the other from Pittsfield . . . Adams and Pittsfield, Massachusetts . . . A turbulent local political ruckus is making up over the site of some gasoline storage tanks.

TALLULAH BANKHEAD

She Heads Back to Hollywood Hills

IRVING BERLIN HAS WRITTEN a new song called "The President's Birthday Ball" . . . Clifford Odets' new play "Clash by Night" will fold suddenly, the grapevine tells us, and Tallulah Bankhead, star of the opus, will head for the hills of Hollywood . . . (When the critics lambasted this one, Producer Billy Rose politely begged to differ) . . . Jessel's musical, "High Kickers," didn't fare very well at the hands of the reviewers . . . They were polite, but reserved . . . Obviously being friendly . . . Georgie kept saying his show was playing to tremendous business . . . Watch it close or take to the road soon . . . Riding the one-nights and the split-weeks isn't the fun on the gravy-train it used to be, either . . . "Separate Rooms," which was a one-set show and cheap to operate, will call it a season in the midwest January 18 . . . Eddie Cantor's "Banjo Eyes" got off to a fine start in Manhattan (and at $7.70 a first-night seat) . . . The star's box-office pull will keep this navigating through eight or nine prosperous weeks . . . Then it will slip, we fear

DEANNA IS MISSING FROM THIS ONE

By Louella O. Parsons

Deanna Durbin

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10—Henry Koster, who has directed all but two of the Deanna Durbin hits, steps out without her for the first time at Universal with "Boy Meets Baby," with Robert Cummings in the star spot. When I heard the plot of this yarn by Regis Gignoux and Jacques Thery I began to wonder if the boys weren't going to miss "Baby." It sounds like a perfect Durbin role for the girl—all about a 20-year-old charmer who pretends to be 12 or 14 so her mother can pose as a glamour girl.

Well, "U" swears that Deanna won't be back for this one—and they should know. In addition to directing, Koster will also produce "Boy Meets Baby" with Phil Karlstein as his associate.

MRS. MILDRED TURNER, Lana's young looking mother, was at the Rosella Towne-Harry Kronman wedding. I had quite a long talk with Mrs. Turner and she said Lana is coming straight home and not going to Lake Placid to be the house guest of Alexis Thompson, the young millionaire, as we had heard.

"You know," she said, "Lana is not serious about any of the boys she sees now. When she does marry again I want her to know it's the right one."

She likes Mr. Thompson very much but there is no romance. I expect Lana home today. I believe she and Judy Garland and Dave Rose did talk about going to Lake Placid, but she must be home to get ready for her next picture with Clark Gable.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Evelyn Ankers is threatened with pneumonia and Universal is shooting around her on "Frankenstein"; W. C. Fields is entertaining Gar Wood, Detroit's speed king. His son was engaged to June Preisser but June is not ready to give up her career.

Maureen O'Sullivan definitely leaves M-G-M when she completes her current "Tarzan" picture. Hear she has a swell offer elsewhere.

SO MANY PEOPLE have told Lou Costello he looks like Mayor Fiorello (the Little Flower) LaGuardia—that doggone it he hasn't up and written a story about it. In collaboration with Gene Schrott, Lou has authored "The People's Choice" for a movie—and, of course, it is intended for Abbott and Costello.

The story deals with Bud and Lou as opposition mayors of Chaos City which has been put in hock by the wasteful Abbott. Costello starts as a meek little street cleaner and develops into a LaGuardia. He saves the city in a highly unorthodox and hilarious manner.

MICKEY ROONEY obtained his marriage license in Santa Barbara under the name of Mickey Rooney. He did not use Joe Yule, as has been printed, because sometime ago M. Rooney made his screen name legal, so when Ava Gardner marries the young man she will not be known as Mrs. Joe Yule, but as Mrs. Mickey Rooney. Mickey worked all day and he's hoping against hope that he can go to Santa Barbara today for the big event —but he may have to wait until Monday.

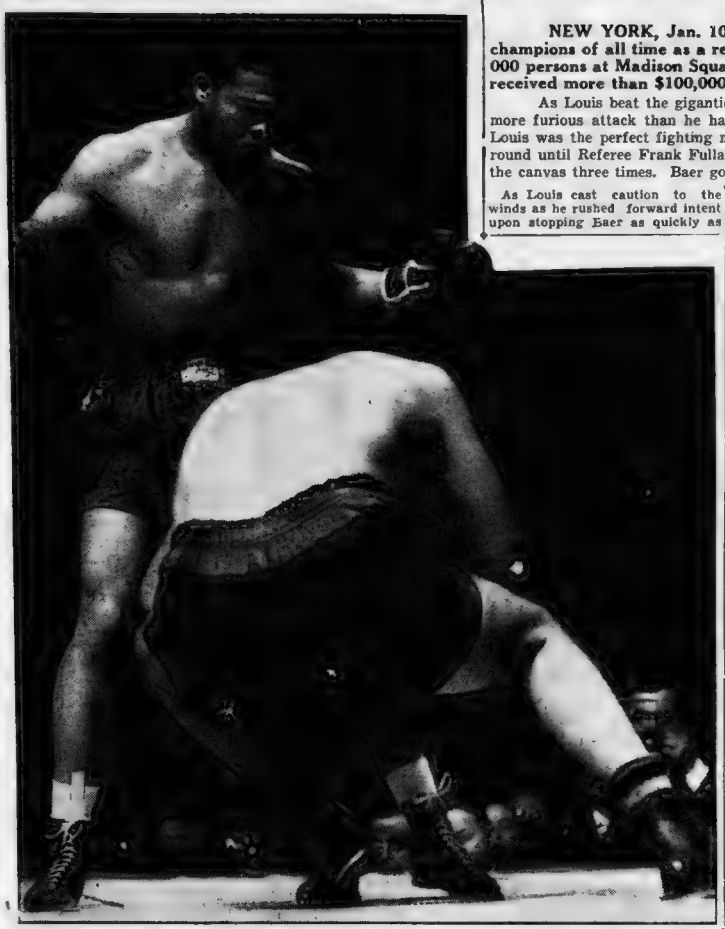
LOUIS AT PEAK CRUSHING BAER

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, SATURDAY, JAN. 10, 1942

By JACK CONWAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—Joe Louis today stands forth as one of the greatest ring champions of all time as a result of his one-round knockout of Buddy Baer before 20,000 persons at Madison Square Garden at a show from which the Naval Relief Society received more than $100,000.

As Louis beat the gigantic Baer into submission in two minutes 56 seconds, he showed a more furious attack than he has unleashed at any time since he knocked out Max Schmeling. Louis was the perfect fighting machine as he swept from his corner at the gong for the first round until Referee Frank Fullam stepped in to halt the contest after Baer had been knocked to the canvas three times. Baer got up after the third knockdown but after the count of 10.



As Louis cast caution to the winds as he rushed forward intent upon stopping Baer as quickly as possible, he reminded me of the Jack Dempsey who kayoed Louis Firpo in two rounds.

FOLLOWED THROUGH

Louis decided that the safest way to protect his million dollar title which he risked at the Navy show without compensation was to make a fight of it.

Louis, at 206¾ pounds, had enough drive behind his blows to rock Baer, scaling 250 pounds, as if he were only a lightweight. This was because Louis was always walking in as he punched. Every bit of power in his own perfectly conditioned body was behind each blow he threw.

Louis drove three solid left jabs to the face as he met Baer in the center of the ring. The "Brown Bomber" made it a left hand attack for the first half a minute, and then blazed his right to the jaw. Baer shook to the soles of his feet after being hit, but came on to score with short blows to the head and body.

RING SHOOK

Louis pulled back like a real champion, measured Baer with another left hook, and then drove his right to the jaw. Once more Baer started to totter but saved himself by rushing to close quarters where he made an effort to send blows to the body.

Louis, realizing he had his man, went back to long range boxing once more. A series of left and right hand blows to the head shook Baer up.

Louis looked the part of a great fighting machine as he moved away from his opponent, then shot a savage left hook to the jaw. Another left hook set Baer back a couple of feet.

The champion, sensing he had the huge Baer in a bad way, blazed away with a right to the jaw. The wallop landed flush on its intended mark, and Baer crashed to the canvas.

At the count of nine Baer, with eyes glassy and legs unsteady, got up and moved toward Louis.

The "Bomber" was set for the

I'll Fight Him Again—With a Baseball Bat—Buddy Baer

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (INS)—"There's no one around who can lick him. I'd fight him again if they'd give me a baseball bat."

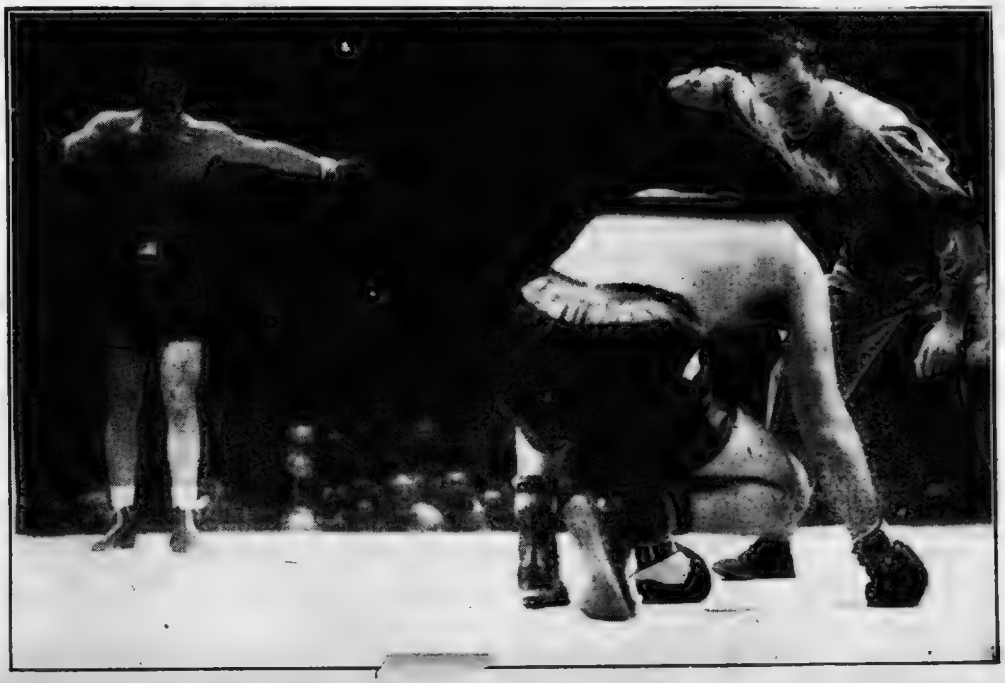
That was the verdict rendered today by big Buddy Baer, the remains of the 20th challenger to fall before thundering fists of heavyweight champion Joe Louis at Madison Square Garden last night.

"Joe had more power and punched faster than any three fighters I ever fought," said Baer. "He paralyzed my left arm and left shoulder with a right on top of the head early in the round," he explained.

Baer said he was badly hurt from a right uppercut when he hit the deck for the third, and last, time just before the referee, Frank Fullam, stopped the fight. He did not add, wonder of wonders, that he would like to meet Joe again. Twice—and two kayos—apparently are par for the course.

Boomps-a-Daisy

Buddy Baer is going down for the third and final time here, in his one-round engagement with Joe Louis in New York Garden last night. Luckless Buddy is going to land with a tremendous bump, too. He managed to get up just as he was counted out by Referee Frank Fullam, but it wasn't any use. Buddy was a thoroughly beaten boxer.



It's Too Late

Joe Louis leans nonchalantly on ropes in background as Buddy Baer wavers to his feet. But Referee Fullam is counting "Ten" and the fight is all over, two minutes and 56 seconds after it started. The customers had hoped they might see a few of the 15 scheduled rounds but Louis, anxious to score decisively, ended it as rapidly as he could. And that was pretty rapid.

Dedham Can Set Pace By Beating Brookline

Dedham High, deadlocked with Natick High for the lead, will be out to grab sole possession of the Eastern Mass. League top rung tonight at the Arena when it meets Brookline High, cellar occupants, in the fifth round of the loop.

Natick, which went into the top spot tie last week by defeating Malden 2-1, was idle from league competition this week, having played an interleague contest last night.

YET TO WIN

It will be Dedham's first league engagement since Dec. 20 when it defeated Wakefield 2-0. The week before, it set down Lexington in the opening of the campaign. For the past two weeks it has been testing the Bay Staters, defeating Needham 2-0, and Walpole 0-3.

Brookline has yet to win a contest this year. The Wealthy Towners' only league game on Dec. 27 saw them on the short end, 1-5, against Wakefield. They should be soft pickings for Dedham.

DRUBBED BROOKLINE

The opening game at 7 o'clock brings together a much improved Wakefield High sextet and Lexington High. The first mentioned has been showing rapid strides since the 0-2 blanking handed it by Dedham.

Wakefield came back the next week and won easily from Brookline, 5-1, and last week, in an interleague fray, took Framingham, 3-1.

Framingham of the Bay State league meets Hudson, and Somerville plays host to Rindge Tech of the Greater Boston loop in the pair of interleague games.

Young Edges Freddy Cabral

The victory string of Garvey Young, sensational 147-pound Marine, still was intact today following a close and gruelling battle with Freddy Cabral, 149½, at Mechanics building.

Young made it eight straight but the Cambridge battler held his own well through the eight rounds and was going at top speed during the final two stanzas. Many in the crowd cheered for a draw.

The leatherneck kept Cabral off with a lightning left during most of the middle rounds and every ounce in a while shook up the slightly heavier lad with rights.

A crowd of 1837 persons paid $2239.

Sam Shumway of Webster, 166-pounder, needed only two rounds to put away Eddie Misko, 168, of the Coast Guard. The sailor hit the deck for keeps after three times being down for the count of nine in the brief battle.

Other winners were Johnny Studley, 159, of Brockton, who downed Sal Cessario, 165, of the North End, while Larry Pacino, 155, of Roxbury, won a close battle with Eddie Ellis, 149-pound Negro from Quincy.

Another victor was Dave Andrews, 143, who breezed to victory over Jackie Collins, 150, of Roxbury, who went out near the end of the fifth round.

Jockey L. Gysin, at left, rides Jim Woodfin, T. C. U. center who has patch on his nose while Dattilo is up on Wyatt Posey of Georgia. This picture was taken after the Orange Bowl game in Miami while both squads relaxed at Tropical. CHARLES F. CONNORS, chairman of the Massachusetts Racing Commission, is on his way to Florida today to attend the meeting of the National Racing Association which includes in its membership members of the various Racing Commissions.

"I believe that Massachusetts racing will be conducted as usual during 1942 barring some emergency," Connors told me before he departed for the South. "Suffolk Downs will hold its horse racing meeting from May 11 through July 18.

"Charles F. Adams, president of the East Boston track, is perfecting plans for his 1942 meeting. Adams has been in consultation with Charley McLannan, his racing secretary, who is at Hialeah Park. Suffolk Downs plans a full racing program. The better thoroughbreds will race here this season.

"The dog tracks plan to conduct their meetings as usual. In the event of blackouts, the dog tracks will hold their meetings during the daytime. Under the racing law as changed last year, daytime dog racing is permitted in the event of blackouts.

"During 1942 racing gave the State $2,500,000 in taxes, and it also paid large sums in taxes to the federal government and to the various local municipalities where the horse and dog tracks are located.

"There is no desire on the part of anyone in authority to curtail the racing program in this State unless it should later become necessary to do so for military purposes."

Smith Going South

Lou Smith of Rockingham Park was at ringside as Joe Louis and Buddy Baer battled in Madison Square Garden.

"I plan to leave for Florida the latter part of next week," said Lou. "I want to perfect plans for my 1942 racing season and to talk to members of various Racing Commissions who will be in session in Florida. Uniform racing rules will help the sport everywhere."

GREEN SEXTET LOCKS HORNS WITH CRIMSON

HANOVER, N. H., Jan. 10—Dartmouth's Big Green hockey team ruled a slight favorite over Harvard six in the opening game of the Pentagonal Ice League here tonight.

Dartmouth whipped the Crimson in a practice game at the Boston Skating Club last month.

Coach Eddie Jeremiah's boys registered triumps over Minnesota, Illinois, Colgate, Boston University and Colby during the Christmas holidays and will be at full strength for the Harvard invasion.

Olympics Hit By League Rule

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Eastern Amateur Hockey League today decided to suspend for the balance of the season any coach who takes his team off the ice and refuses to permit it to continue play.

The new ruling came as the result of last Tuesday's game between the Washington Eagles and Boston Olympics at Washington when Hago Harrington declined to permit the Olympics to continue play after the referee had given Ty Andersen a five-minute major and ten-minute misconduct penalty. Play finally was continued but President Lockhart of the league fined the Boston club $100.

Dorchester Skier Snow Trainers' King

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

An enviable skiing record, unique in itself, is that of Barney Robinson of Dorchester. This enthusiast has not missed a Boston & Maine Sunday Snow Train in eleven years! He was one of 192 passengers that rode the first train in 1931, and is now starting his twelfth season.

"Looking back at it now, that first Snow Train certainly seems funny, but it really started something," said Barney as we talked with him on the train last Sunday. "There were very few skis carried by members of this initial outing, and what skis were in evidence had only toe straps. Everyone wore assorted hiking outfits and rented snowshoes. We have certainly gone a long way since then."

Robinson was quite an athlete in his day. A professional football star, he played for the Canton Bulldogs of Canton, Ohio, in 1920. After a bruising and battering season, he joined the Providence Steamrollers the following year, playing end for this outfit for four years.

Barney next turned his talents to coaching and guided the grid fortunes of the Dorchester Town Team. Ex-Lt. Gov. Francis Kelley was captain of the eleven.

Our snow-training friend now heads the "Robinson Ski Club", an organization consisting of scores of Barney's skiing companions. The gang takes over an entire car each Sunday, and the windows are plastered with signs reading, "Robinson Ski Club."

Eva Patch is secretary of this club, with Bob Howlett acting as treasurer. Outings are also held during the summer.

SNOW TRAIN SCHUSSES: Probably the oldest skier in years, as well as experience, seen regularly on the train, is Ed Tyack. He has been a steady customer of the train for 10 years. Ed's bronzed face is usually wrinkled in smiles, and he more than keeps up with the younger fellows.

VICTOR POPONCHICK is another old-timer, a genial and amusing character. This chap goes in for the art of skiing thoroughly and believes in coming equipped. He carries two huge packs, crammed with several home-made lunches which he gives away, a complete kit of tools, several kinds of waxes, extra clothing and overshoes, and everything else but a grand piano. His ski poles are very sturdy, for he made them from rake handles. Victor is a yodelling skier and often wears leather shorts on a ski jaunt!

Skiing's growth in New England can be traced largely to the Snow Train. This institution started the business booming. Anyone that rides it now is completely equipped with expensive clothes, boots, and skis. Many of the awkward beginners who started on the train years ago are now the experts of today.

Harvard Swimmers Duel Greenwood Team

The Harvard swimming team will attempt to sink the Greenwood Memorial team tonight in the Harvard pool in a final warmup for the test with Brown next Wednesday night.

MECHANIC ARTS OPENS DEFENSE OF ICE TITLE

Four more Boston schools were to make their hockey debut today at the Garden as the Hub circuit was to have its second session in three days.

The first half of the program which starts at 1 o'clock finds Latin taking on Roxbury Memorial and Mechanic Arts meeting Dorchester.

Mechanics, defending champions of the Hub conference was undefeated last year. With Al Boresch as their outstanding star, the Artisans stand a good chance of repeating this year.

The second half of the program brings together the District division. Hyde Park, which defeated East Boston 3-2 this past Thursday, is favored to hand Charlestown its second straight loss. The Bunker Hillers went down on the same day, losing to Brighton, 4-3.

Brighton and South Boston, both winners in opening games Thursday, meet in the closing game of the day.

Northeastern Plays Host To Maine Five

Northeastern makes its first home post-vacation start tonight at Johnson Memroial Gym when it plays University of Maine in a New England college conference basketball league game. The Husky freshmen will meet Dean Junior College in the preliminary game.

Jimmy Dunn

With three victories in four starts, Northeastern is on the way to the best record in Jimmy's Dunn's coaching regime. Last Wednesday the Huskies invaded Durham, N. H., and scored their first victory in recent years on the Wildcats' court.

Five iron men carried the ball for Northeastern against the Wildcats and will resume their burden tonight.

N. E. Swimmers Duel At Roxbury Boys Club

Over 50 of New England's finest swimmers are entered in the A. A. U. swimming meet to be held at the Roxbury clubhouse of the Boys' Clubs of Boston tonight.

CHARITY begins outside the ring says Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion, as he stretches Buddy Baer for final 10 in first round of title fight last night in New York. Louis, giving his entire end of the purse to the Navy Relief Fund, showed Buddy little mercy, putting him out of the picture in 2 minutes, 56 seconds. Frank Fullam is the referee.

LOUIS GREATEST OF ALL TIMES--CONWAY

kill. He rocked Baer with deadly left and right hand smashes to the head and body, then sent another right to the jaw which dropped Baer for the second time.

The ring shook as Buddy went down. It didn't appear as though he'd be able to get up. But, at the count of nine, Baer managed to struggle to his feet.

Louis stood waiting with his fists ready to sweep into action.

Joe shot a few punches to the jaw, landed another left hook to the head, then let the winning punch drive. Once more it was a right hand shot to the chin.

BAER DIDN'T HAVE A CHANCE

Baer hit the canvas with a thud but courageously tried to get up. He was in the act of getting to his feet when the count of 10 was tolled off. Referee Frank Fullam then declared Louis a winner on a knockout in two minutes 56 seconds of fighting.

At first it was thought Referee Fullam had halted the bout on account of Baer's helpless condition, but the timekeeper announced the count of 10 had been reached before Baer got to his feet.

Baer did not land a single effective blow during the bout. His best efforts were the light body blows he scored while rushing to close quarters to get out of the way of Louis' devastating punches.

Baer had size and weight. That was all. Six feet, six and a half inches tall, and weighing 250 pounds, Buddy was the tallest man ever to try to win the heavyweight championship.

Baer did not have any chance to prove whether he could box or not. Louis did not intend to permit him to do any boxing. Joe was intent on making a fight out of it, confident in the belief that he can outpunch any human being in the world.

In driving forward with his heavy punches, Louis risked meeting with an injury which might have deprived him of his million dollar title. Joe, however, was willing to take this risk to give the 20,000 fans a thrill and to prove he is every inch a fighting man.

TOO FAST FOR FANS

Louis came through the bout unmarked which was proof of the fact he tossed punches too fast for Baer to do any damage to him. Buddy's face was bruised from the champion's best Sunday punches.

Part of the crowd was disappointed because the bout was over so quickly. It had hoped that Baer, who scored a knockdown against Louis in Washington last May, would at least give him four or five rounds of action.

Louis was in better condition than when he fought Baer in Washington. He also did not underestimate Buddy, and he did not give the Californian an opportunity to score with one of his swinging left hooks.

The bout was witnessed by a colorful crowd. Persons of high military ranking were at the ringside, while leaders in the civic and business life of New York also attended.

Lieut.-Com. Gene Tunney, a former world champion, was close to the blistering action as was former Postmaster James A. Farley, who first gained fame as chairman of the New York Athletic Commission.

Before the bout started, Wendell Willkie, representing the Navy Relief Society, thanked Joe Louis, Buddy Baer, Mike Jacobs and the public for their aid to the Navy fund. Willkie read a telegram from Secretary of the Navy Knox in which the latter praised all who helped make the show a success.

Joe Louis received a tremendous ovation when Willkie called attention to the fact the champion was boxing without compensation.

$189,700 GATE

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—A crowd of 18,870 paid $189,700.53 to see Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis smash Buddy Baer in one round last night at Madison Square Garden, the 20th Century Sporting Club announced today.

A breakdown was being prepared to find the amount by which the Naval Relief Society would benefit from the bout. Louis' entire purse, all of Promoter Mike Jacobs' profits, and a percentage of Baer's share will be donated to the charity.

Don't Shed Any Tears for the Old Louis—He's Still Plenty Good

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Any tendency to start recalling nostalgically the young Joe Louis who "killed" his man with a punch can be spiked right now, for the mature Joe Louis who knocked out Buddy Baer in the first round at Madison Square Garden last night is as great a fighter as the world has seen

At 206¾ pounds—much the heaviest he ever has weighed—the Negro champion looked as fast as ever in his career, and it is doubtful he ever threw a harder punch than any one of three that dropped the 250-pound Baer to the canvas as though he had been shot.

Baer, shaking his battered head cheerfully, said, "I know now what they meant when they said the man who beats Joe will have Father Time in his corner. Maybe my next child will be a son and I can raise him up for the job."

Fighting with his entire share of the receipts going to the Naval Relief Society, the champion gave one of his most savage displays in the 20th defense of his title. From the time the lights dimmed and the bell clanged until two minutes, 56 seconds later, when Buddy's shattered hulk was towed back to his corner, Louis tried to tear his man apart with every punch.

So mercifully sharp were the blows that collapsed the younger of the Baers that he bore slight evidence of his ordeal. There was only a lump, about the size of a bantam egg, on his left cheek bone as he wise-cracked about his experience.

"All I can't understand is why he didn't put on some weight a long time ago," he said. "He hit me a whole lot faster and harder tonight than he did in Washington. In fact, any one of those punches he caught me with tonight hurt more than the whole bunch he hit me in six rounds down there."

Wendell Willkie, defeated Republican presidential candidate in the last election, set the keynote beforehand when, in a speech from the ring, he told Buddy:

"I took on a champ too, not long ago. I didn't win, but I had a lot of fun trying."

When Willkie called on Baer in his dressing room after it was over, Buddy was able to laugh:

"Well, we had a lot of fun trying."

Louis came out of the brief bout with a very slight cut on his under lip; so slight that Dr. William Walker, the Athletic Commission's physician, didn't see it at all.

OLYMPICS, BLUE BIRDS FURNISH ICE ACTION

Coach "Hago" Harrington is banking on his Olympics taking two games from the Johnstown Blue Birds . . . The Pics are again the pacemakers of the Eastern Amateur Hockey League and are confident that they'll be over the 40 point mark after playing the Blue Birds tonight and tomorrow afternoon at the Garden . . . Dick Newsome, Sox pitcher, is so far on the mend after his recent operation that he'll start home tomorrow or Monday . . . Dick will be back for the baseball writers' dinner and during that visit he will attend the Bruins-Toronto hockey game.

Pres. Don Barnes of the St. Louis Browns didn't have any trouble cleaning out his staff of scouts but he'll have to be a super salesman to get the price he's asking for the franchise of the San Antonio Padres—all he's asking is $300,000 . . . With three fine outfielders, Al White, Woody Bell and Pete Kraus in the service, as well as Maurice Newlin, a promising pitcher, who was "up" for a spell with the Browns last season, the San Antonio club has been stripped to the bone . . . Sig Broskie, the rotund catcher, who went south with the Braves last spring, is out to conquer new worlds . . . Prior to going to Harrisburg, Broskie had played with Evansville, Bridgport, Dayton, Buffalo, Ft. Refusing to remain idle despite the cancellation of the Veteran of Foreign Wars' meet scheduled for today, the Harvard track team took on the Tufts speedsters this afternoon in the Tufts gym.

This is Harvard's second informal meet with Tufts this winter. The Crimson won eight firsts in 12 events.

Angel Training For Indian Foe

Maurice Tillet, better known as The Angel, opened training today for his wrestling bout against Chief Celo Saunooke, the Cherokee Indian, next Wednesday night at the Boston Arena.

The battle headlines Promoter Paul Bowser's weekly tournament, and a portion of the receipts will be donated to the soldiers of the New England Frontier Defense Sector, commanded by Maj.-Gen. Thomas A. Terry.

Saunooke is easily the toughest foe the champion has met in a Boston ring in several months. Weighing 300 pounds, the Indian has calmed down some real formidable foes lately and has yet to lose a fall here in several months of campaigning. Lately he has mauled such men as Steve (Crusher) Casey, former world's champion, Leo Numa and Rudy LaDitzi.

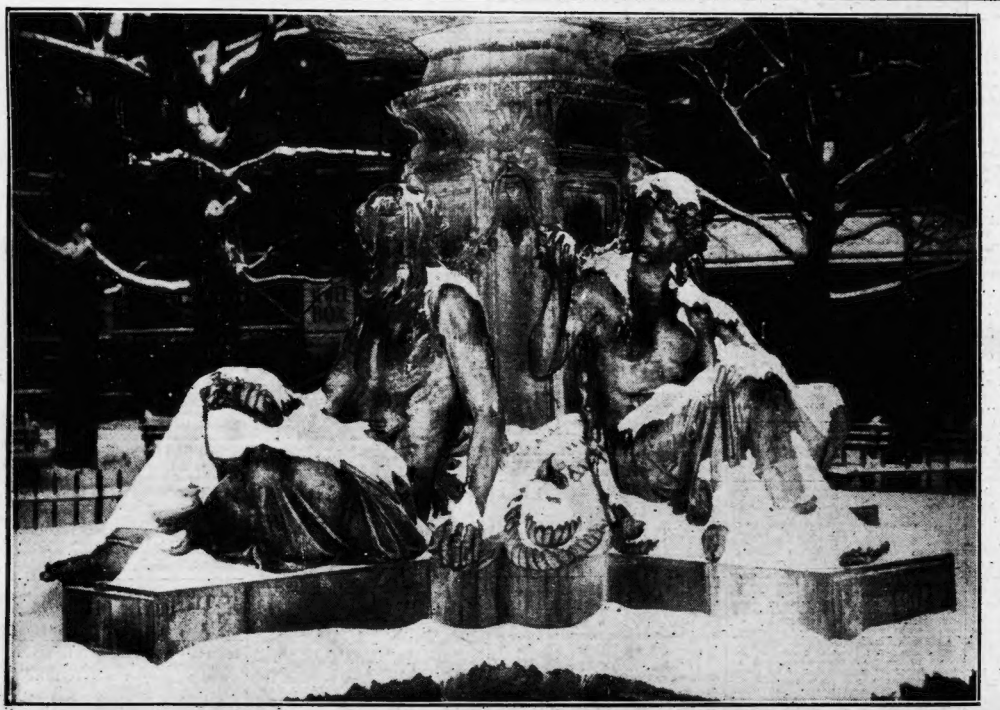
Pigeons' Feeding Time

It's a scramble for food at Boston Common this snowy day by the ever-present pigeons who rely mostly on kind commuters for their food. Meanwhile, six hundred men armed with city's snow-removing equipment prepared to clear city streets. Weather Story on Page 3.



Boston Winter Scene

Mantled in snow today is the bronze Brewer Fountain which is near the Park street mall on Boston Common . . . presenting a pretty winter scene to commuters. Weatherman says clearing conditions will be followed by a visit by Jack Frost tonight.
